Busily preparing decorations for the Homecoming dance are Cheryl McLaughlin, Kris Dewey, and Jane Dickelman.

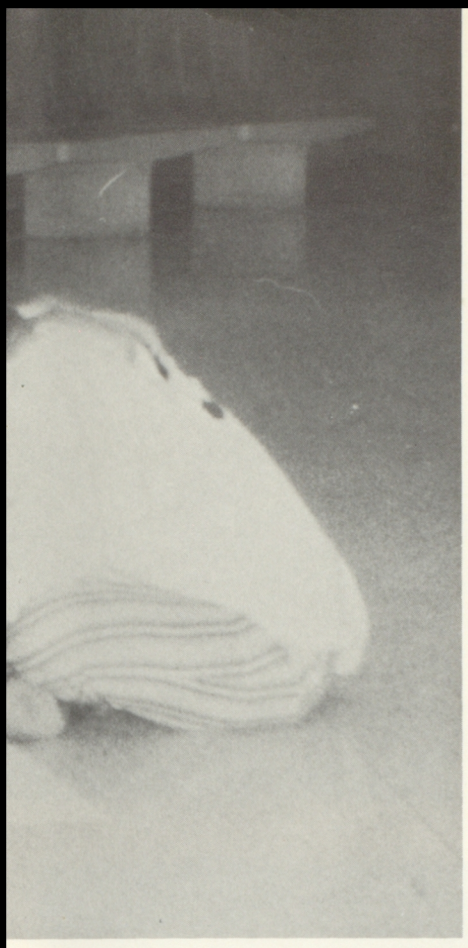

Chatting at the mother-daughter tea, the Homecoming attendants are joined by a few of last year's dignitaries.

Judy Hentges and Wade Fessler enjoy themselves at their first Homecoming dance, while senior Mark Westergaard looks over the crowd.

One lone poster, struggling to be recognized in the congested student center, may be the last chance for some hopeful girl to attend the Homecoming dance.

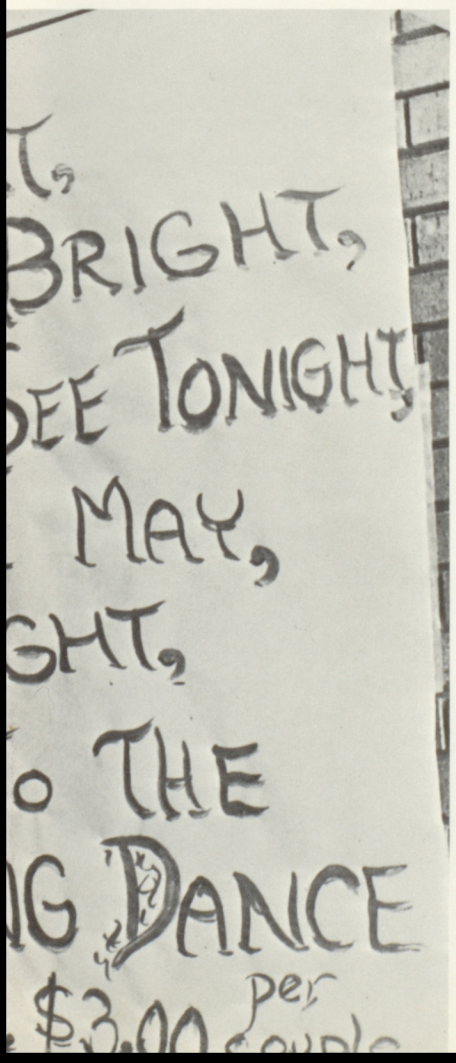

Much planning makes Homecoming a reality

Homecoming Spirit Week had all the traditional activities: a Spirit Breakfast with a menu of doughnuts and milk, a Cake-Off, and a car rally. On Friday girls wore yellow mums on their green sweaters. Enthusiasm was not as important this year. Students did not wear the traditional green and gold colors throughout the week, and the spirit buttons were stolen.

The Homecoming attendants were announced in a special issue of THE CHALLENGER. Pictured on the front page were the senior candidates. A paragraph about each girl contained her qualifications and gave some insight into her personality.

The game half-time activities were filled with excitement. The queen and her court were presented to the student body, the Hooverettes and band marched, and gold balloons were sent floating into the air.

The football team won its first victory of the season and survived the bumps and bruises the North team tried to inflict.

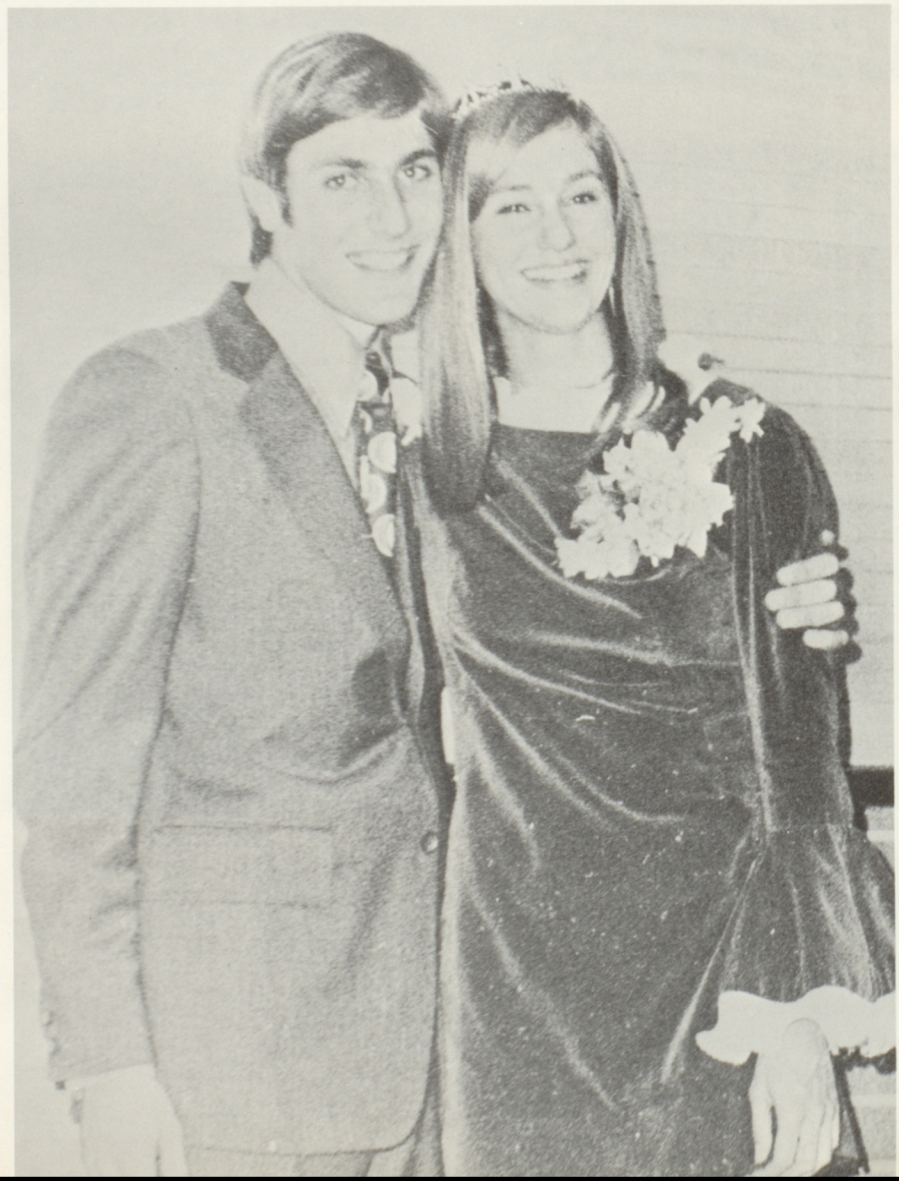

Holly Hart and Ian Soleglad pause for a moment during the activities at the Homecoming dance.

Escorting sophomore attendant Diane Pontisso through the flowered arch, John Elder learns the true meaning of stage fright.

With wide grins, Mitch Moret and Gail Hand portray two happy people at the Homecoming dance.

Clapping accompanies the ending of the assembly as Gail Hand is escorted out of the gym.

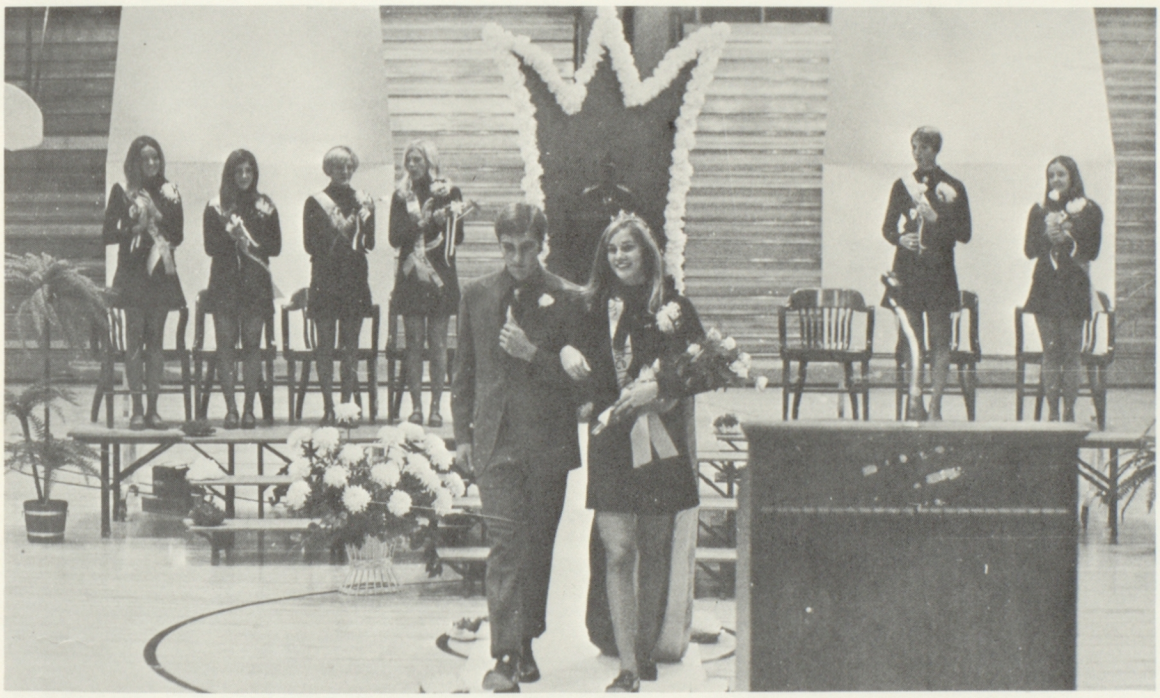

Homecoming assembly highlights Spirit Week

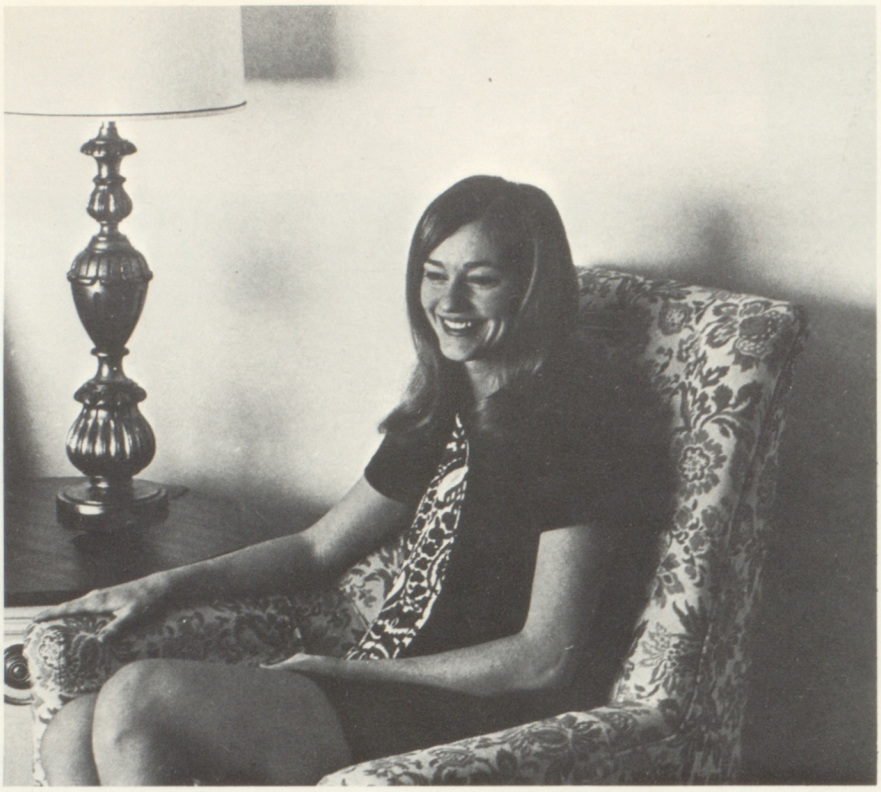

The nervous attendants and queen candidates sat pensively at the Homecoming pep assembly, awaiting their turn to accept the single yellow rose and take their appointed place on the platform. All students had their eyes glued to the queen candidates as they listened to reminiscent remarks by last year's queen, Karen Kever.

The moment finally arrived when Student Council President John John accepted a sealed envelope. "The 1970 Homecoming Queen is Gail Hand." A roar of cheers, the school song, and a half-stunned, half-surprised queen gracefully accepted her honor.

Dawn Mueller spoke for the alumni, and comical skits were presented by Boys' Club and Girls' Club. Mr. Hal Bordy surprised everyone with his impersonation of a "typical Homecoming queen".

The dance, with its theme of "Starshine", had music provided by the Library. Student Council sponsored the dance and the assembly, under the direction of Ann Gerdom and Jane Dickelman.

Dahlberg, Alsager reign; Linder receives award

The third annual synchronized swim show proved to be a highly colorful and original show.

The theme was "A Time For Us". All swimming routines were introduced and coordinated by the numbers of a gigantic cardboard Swiss clock. Carol Pyle and Sandy Griffith portrayed the mechanical Swiss boy and girl figures which changed the hands of the clock after each routine.

Jean Dahlberg and Dave Alsager were crowned as Queen and King. The senior attendants were: Candy Bloodsworth, Mark Crouch, Ann Edgar, and Rick Gerhardt. Juniors were represented by Sandy Durham and John Burns. Sophomores were Kayle Luthey and Bill Wellborne.

The show was dedicated to Coach Dave Linder because of his assistance in starting the girls' swimming program.

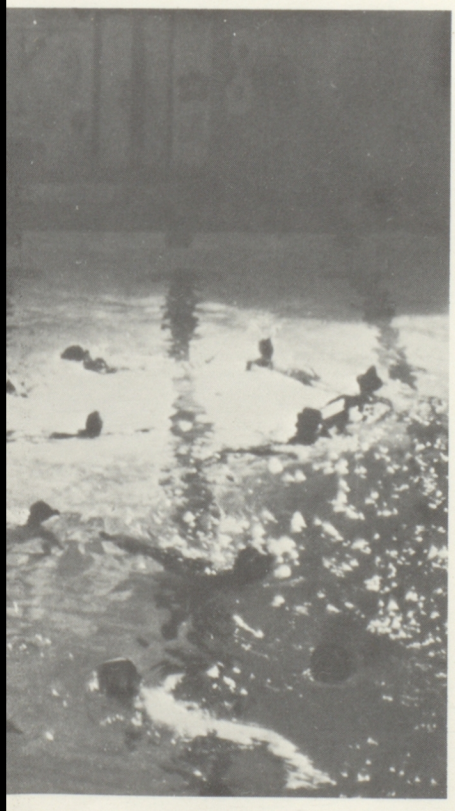

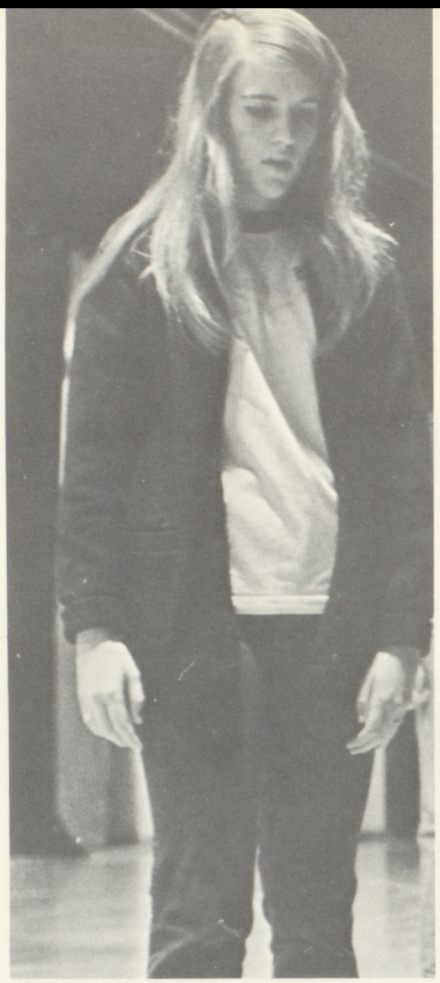

Junior swimmers take a gamble.

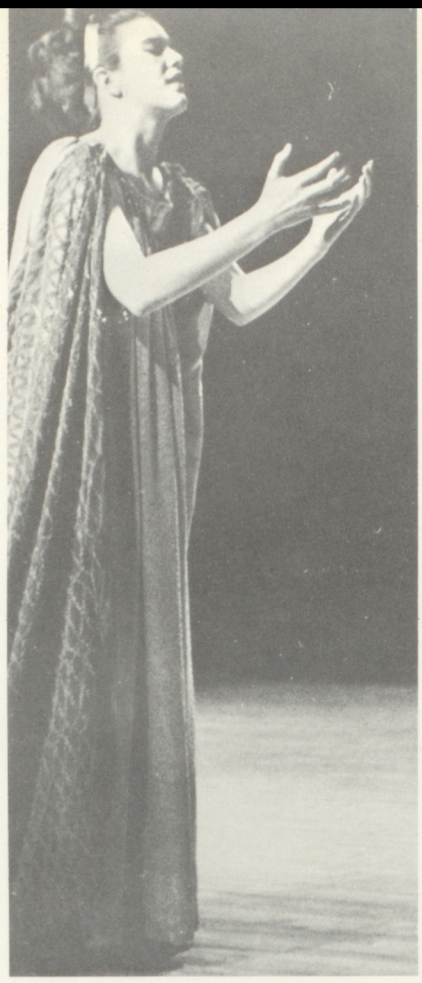

'A Time For Us' was the theme of the synchronized show as the Marlins began their show at 'one o'clock'.

Ann Edgar, Candy Bloodsworth, Gail Hand and Jean Dahlberg look enviously on as Paula Brock and Dawn Cady ride their ponies.

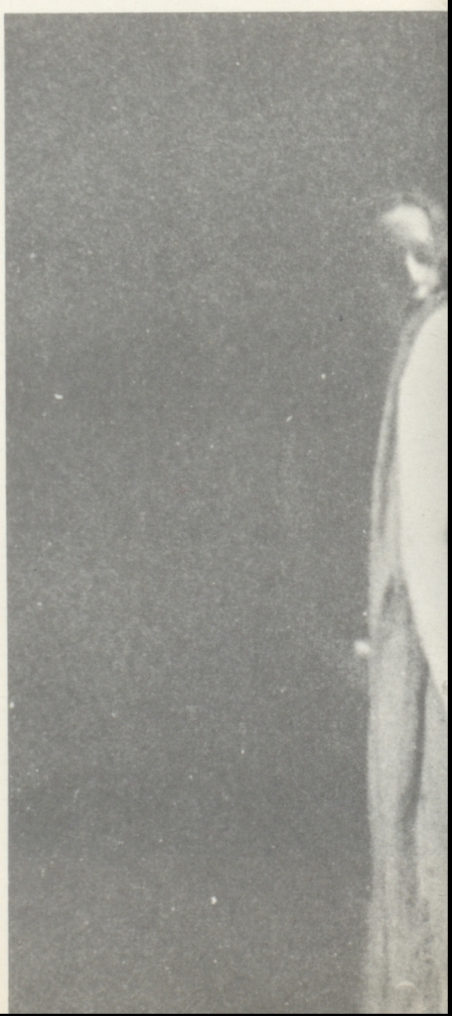

Transformation of character can be seen as Denise Bloomquist portrays Medea before and during performance.

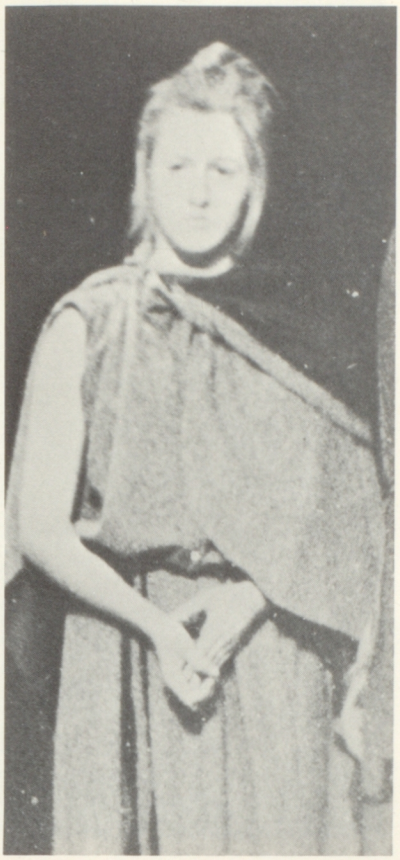

Nurse Diana Bloethe expresses concern over the oncoming events.

Medea's child (Brian Evans), tutor (Steve VanHouweling) and Jason's slave (Bob Rucker), strole toward home as Jason (Tim Pierson) looks on.

Standing attentively, the chorus, Carol Bailey, Linda Robbins, Shelley Ansorge, Judy Johnston, Karen Evans and Sue Hammer, sadly listen as Medea relates the story of her tragic life.

'Medea' presented as fall drama production

The first dramatic production was the classical Greek tragedy "Medea", presented on November 5, 6, and 7. The play demanded more acting ability by the actors and attention by the audience. Directed by Mr. Steve Pudenz and assisted by student director Rick Ansorge, the production was enacted on a special extension of the auditorium stage to simulate the Greek style.

The tragedy, based on Greek mythology, centered on Jason and his wife, Medea. Jason, in his lust for power, married the daughter of Creon, who was the ruler of Corinth. In order to seek revenge, Medea destroyed everything Jason valued.

"Medea", when related to modern society, presented to the audience an understanding of human nature and the moral order of the universe.

Catching his date under the mistletoe, a boy and girl 'do their thing'.

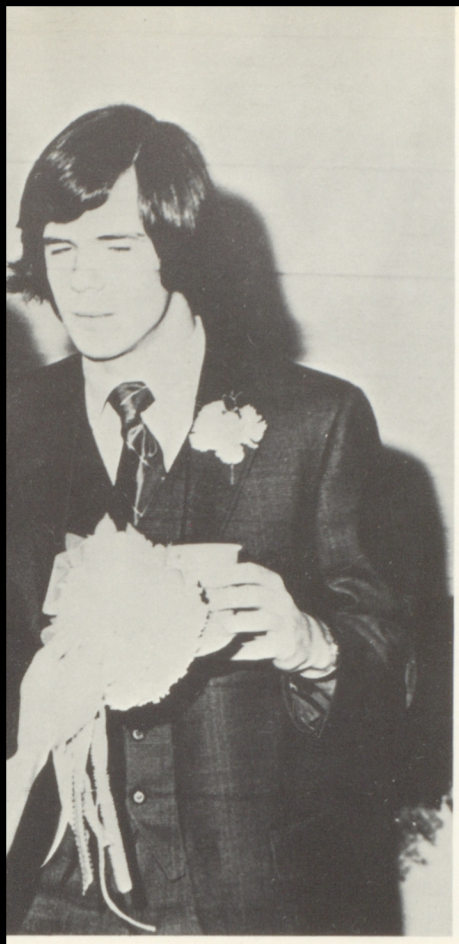

Kathy Boysen beams radiantly as she begins her reign as Dream Girl at the Christmas Dance.

Couples stroll about the student center as "Fire and Ice" begins to transform into a successful dance.

"I paid for the corsage. You pay for the dinner," says Kay Porter to Mike Stanfill at the Boys' Club Christmas dance.

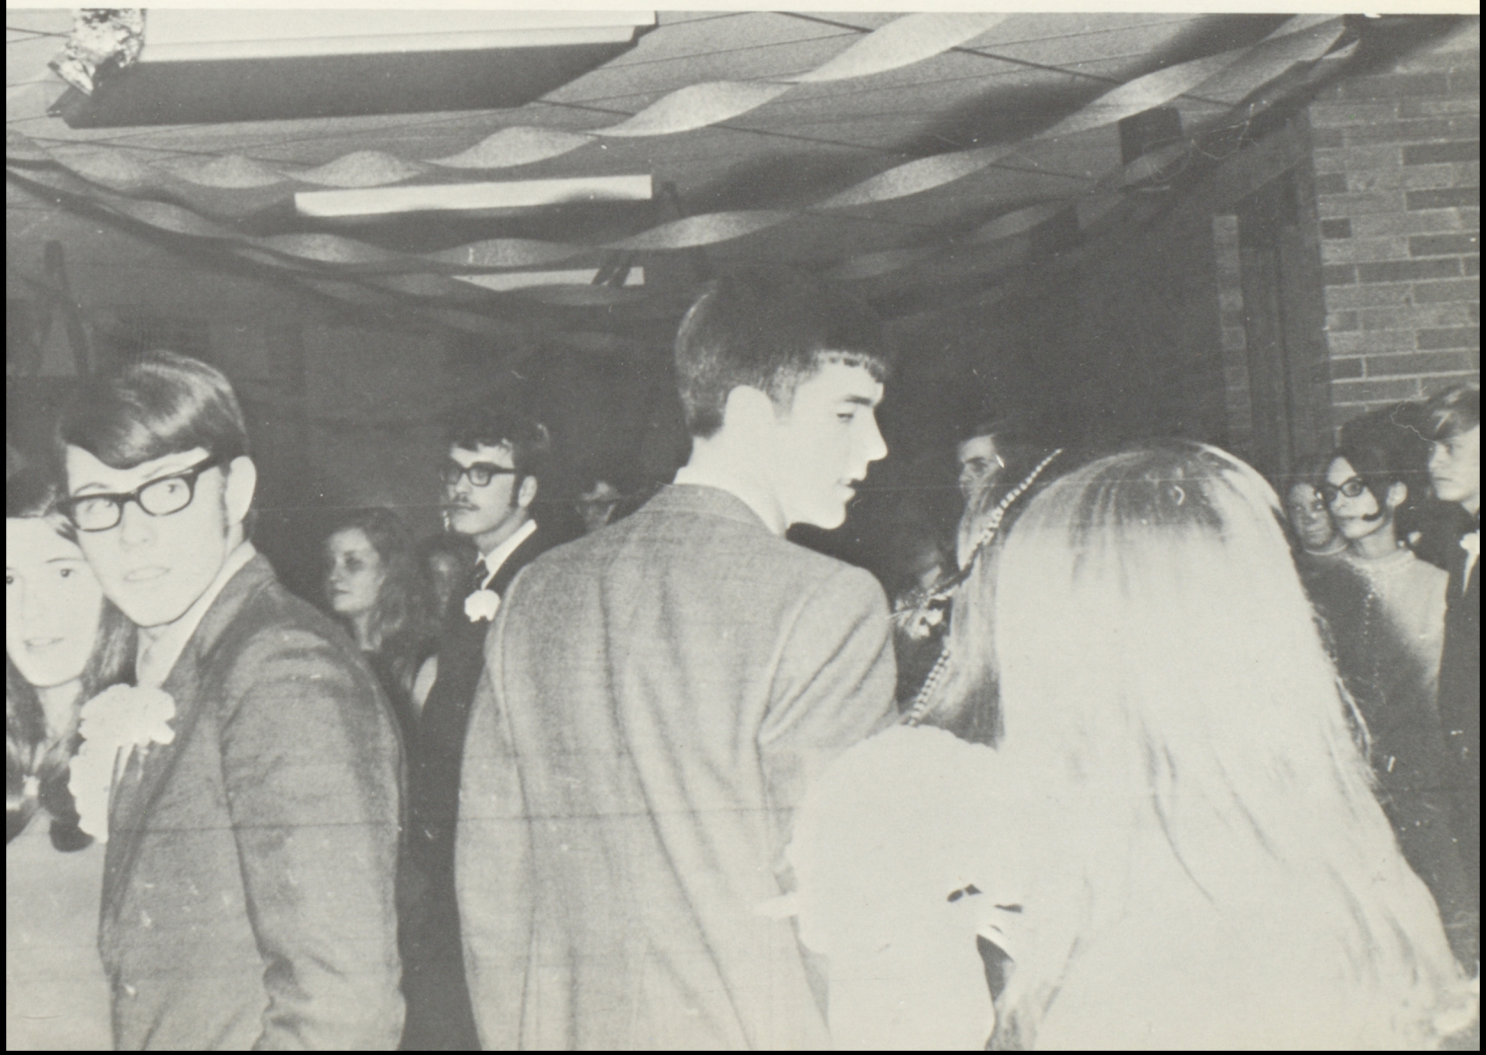

Christmas dance enhanced by holiday attitudes, "Dream Girl"

"Fire and Ice" was the theme of the Christmas Dance which was sponsored by Boys' Club.

Parting from the traditional activities of the dance, Boys' Club sponsored a "Dream Girl" contest. All boys voted for the candidate of their choice. Junior Cathy Boysen was selected from a field of nine nominees to reign over the night's proceedings.

Boys' Club president Roger Stetson and vice-president Steve Tarr headed the plans, and Jenny Nielsen helped coordinate the decorations.

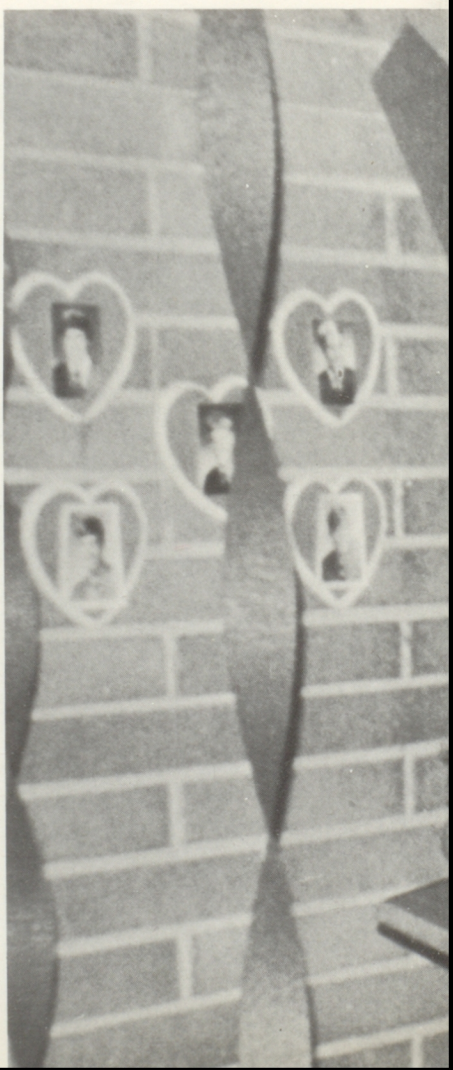

Dickinson wins 'Seasons' honor; 'Stytch n' Thyme' provide music

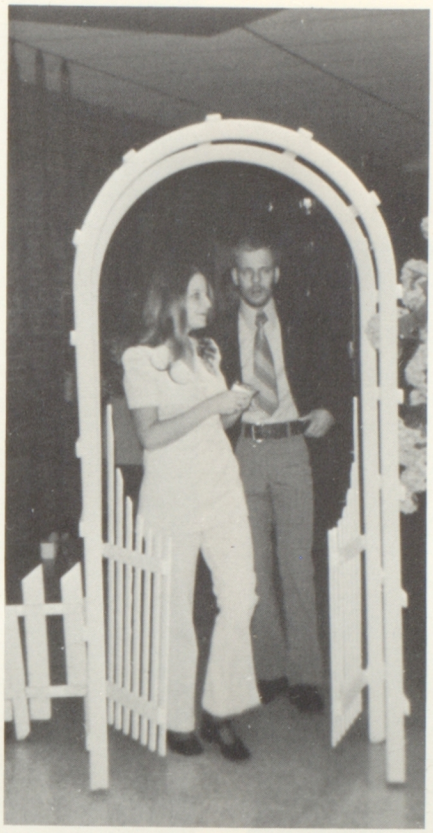

The Student Center was transformed into "A World of Love" for the Girls' Club Valentine's Dance. A Japanese flower garden, an Italian nightclub, and a French sidewalk cafe carried out the theme of the dance. Social Committee co-chairmen Chris Vest and Jan Klinzman headed the plans. Music was provided by "Stytch 'n' Thyme".

The highlight of the evening came when Scott Dickinson was crowned "Man For All Seasons" by Girls' Club President Diana McCollum.

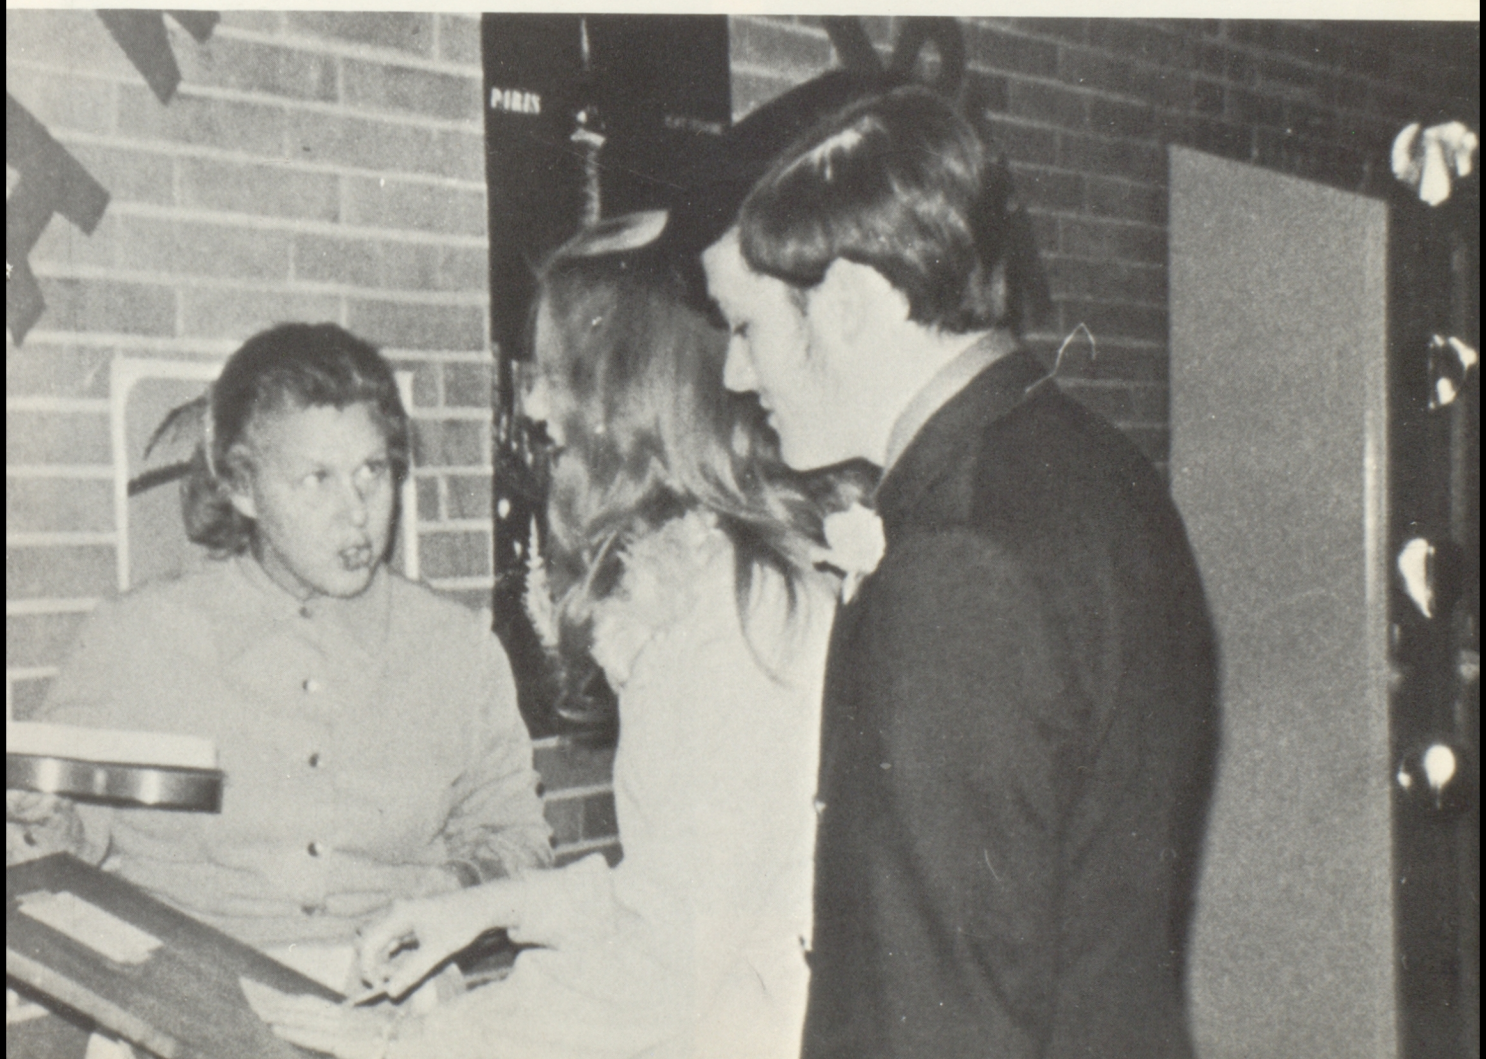

John John looks on enviously as Diana McCollum rewards Scott Dickinson with naming him "Man For All Seasons" at the Valentine's Dance.

Admiring the fountain and each other at the dance are Bill Streyfeller and Kathy Trotter.

Kayle Luthey and John Griffiths enter "A World of Love" through a white wooden arch.

Mrs. Doris McCollum instructs Denise Bloomquist and Ric Chamberlin on voting for the "Man For All Seasons".

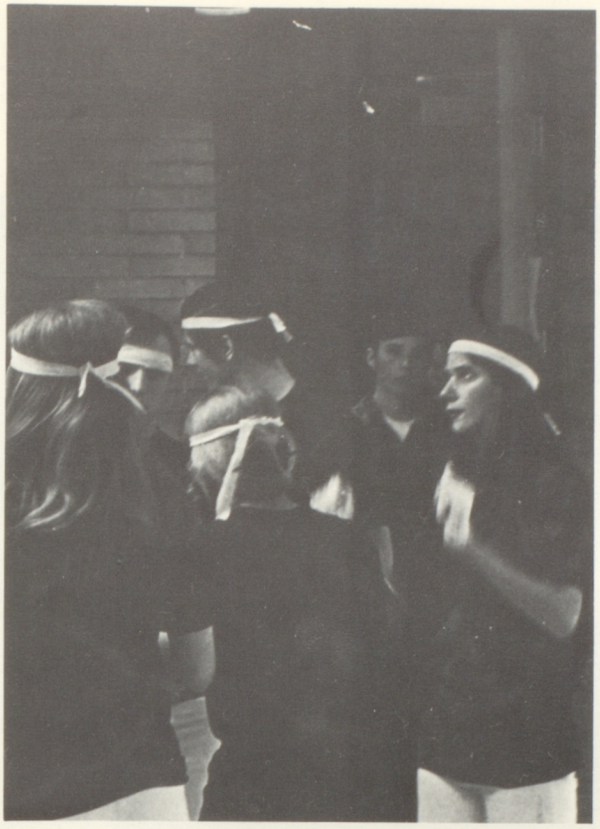

Valentine couples "sit one out" on the student center benches.

Five senior boys nominated by Girls' Club for the title of "Man For All Seasons" are from BOTTOM: Dan Schwartz, Dave Alsager, John John, Scott Dickinson, and Jon DePhillips.

Seniors Patti Meyer and Sue Stelter take some time out and indulge during the dance.

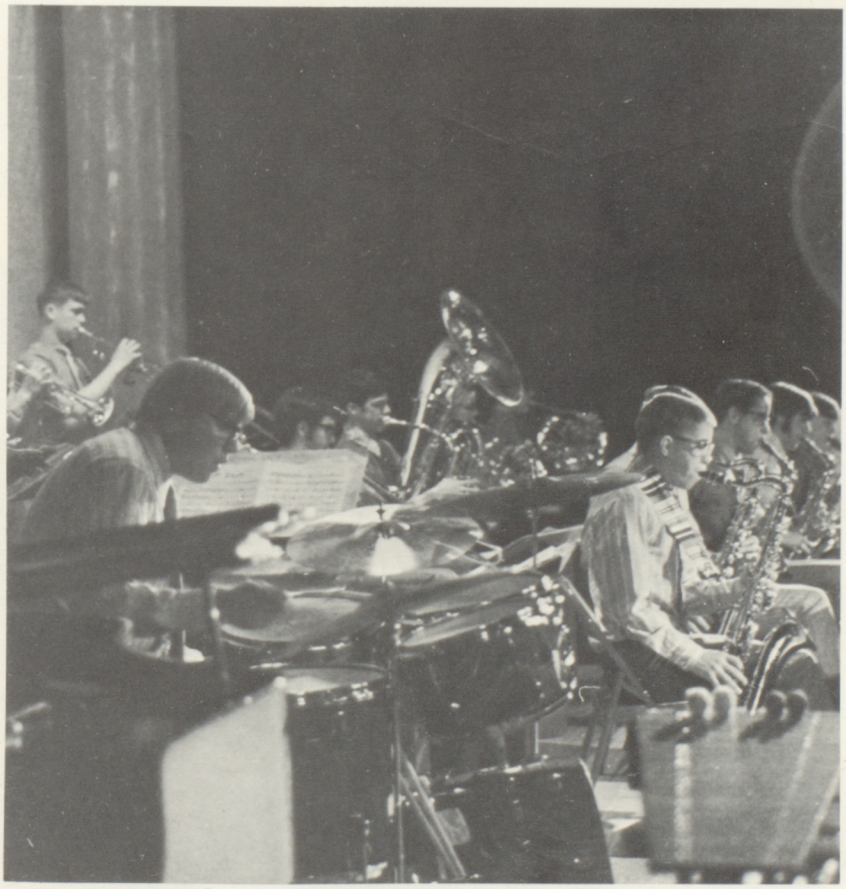

Turmoil on earth is 'Vertigo's' main theme

"Life in Vertigo" was the theme for the Fine Arts show which is sponsored annually by the drama department and Dance Club. The Fine Arts show was designed to give students an opportunity to show their talent in a broad range of activities.

The performances ranged from piano solos to vocal groups and dancing routines. All acts were centered on the main theme, which tried to portray man's turmoil on earth.

The Jazz Band swings while playing their number of "House of the Rising Sun", during the finale of "Life In Veritgo".

One-acts provide much learning experience for beginning actors

Thespian one-acts are presented not only for the entertainment of the audience, but to provide an endless learning experience for those actors involved. The one-acts were directed and produced by the students themselves. Each student director had to face all the problems in producing a show, from selecting the cast to selecting the lighting crew. Drama teacher Steve Pudenz served only as an adviser for the student directors.

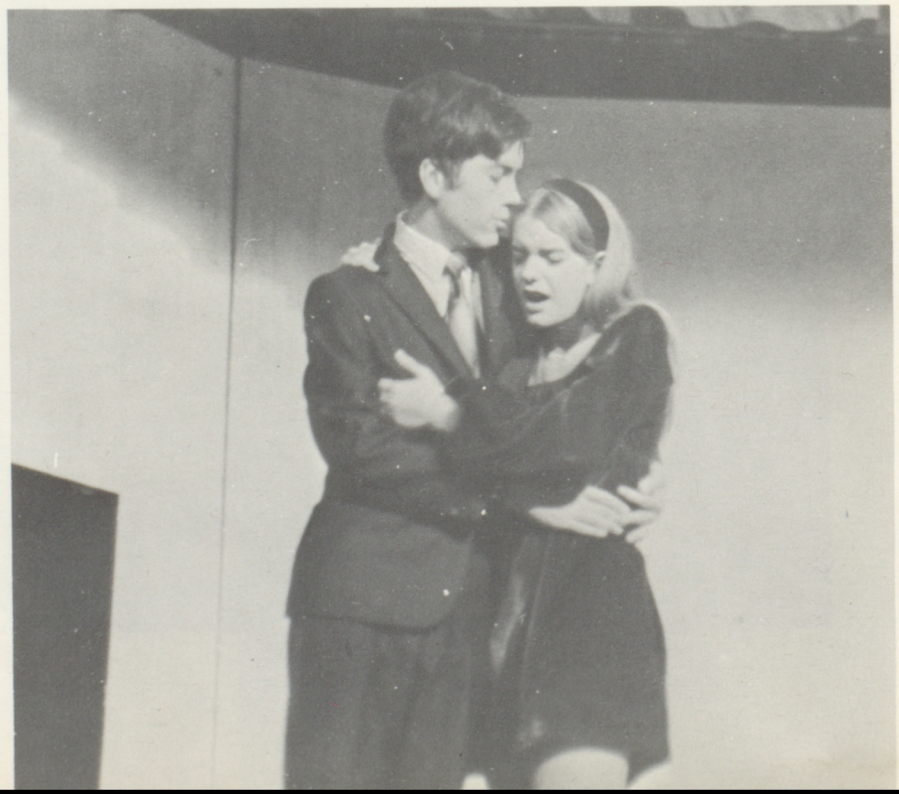

"White Lies," directed by Roger Fish, dealt with deceptions and false images. The second play, "Through a Glass Darkly," concerned itself with the concepts of prejudice and the many forms it may take. The play was directed by Noreen Grantman. "Death Comes To My Friends," a story of the debts beyond the supernatural, was the final play. Michelle Murray was the student director.

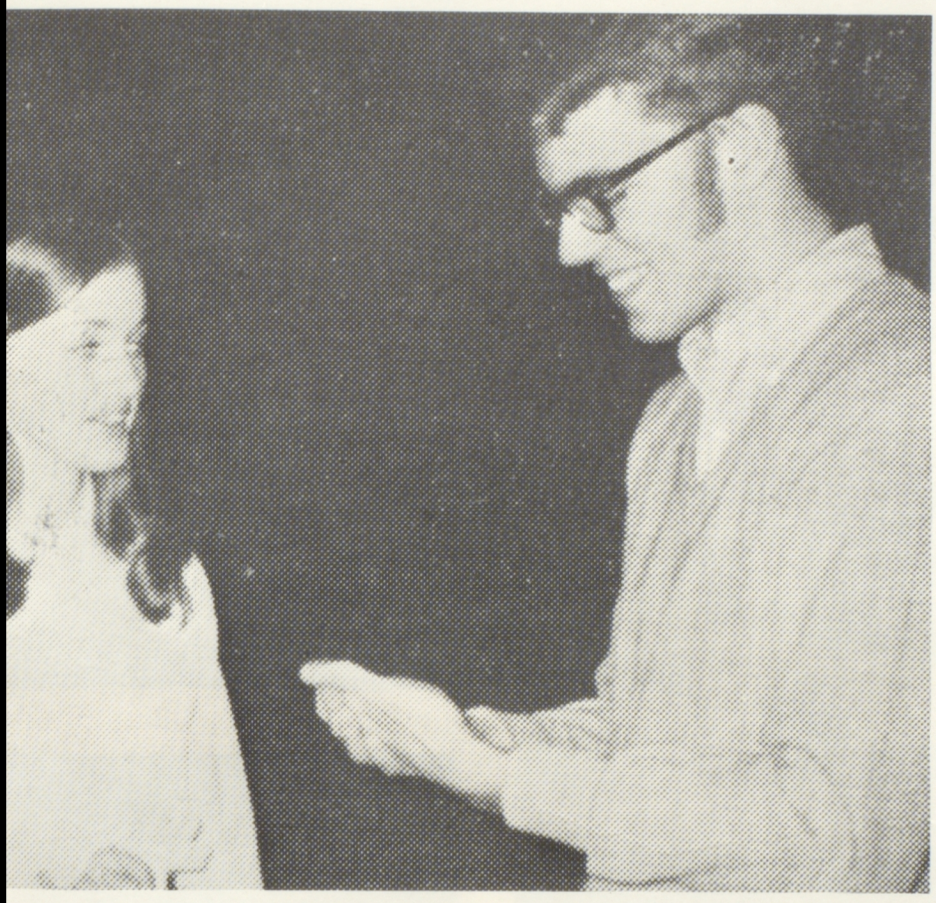

Judy Johnston and Ginger Steinbach smirk as Prince Alecti casts a mindful glance to Lady Cynthia.

A tense moment is portrayed by Boni Borgaard and Bruce Greenwood during the Hoover one act, "Death Comes to my Friends".

Ustinov's 'Romanoff and Juliet' is presented as winter comedy

"Romanoff and Juliet", a political satire by Peter Ustinov, was presented as the winter comedy March 18, 19, and 20. The play, a take off on "Romeo and Juliet", revolves around the love story between an American girl and a Russian boy. The play bases its sarcastic attack on both governments and how the government can control personal lives and decisions.

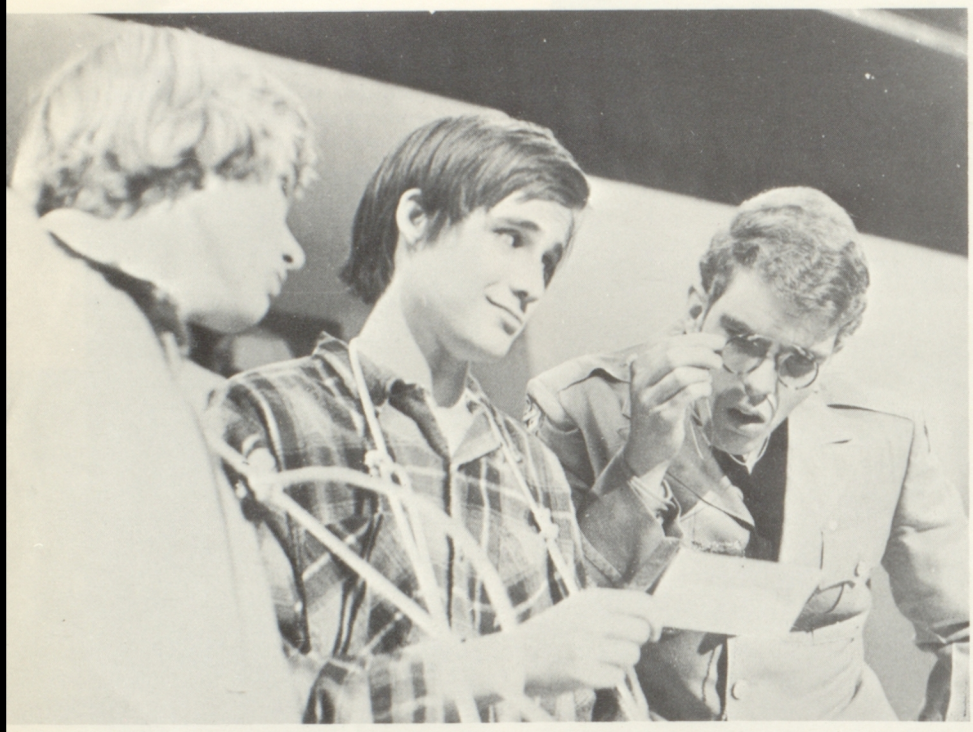

The play was a series of firsts, which included a new technique of constructing a stage set. It utilized two sets which revolved on casters so the audience could see four different scenes within seconds.

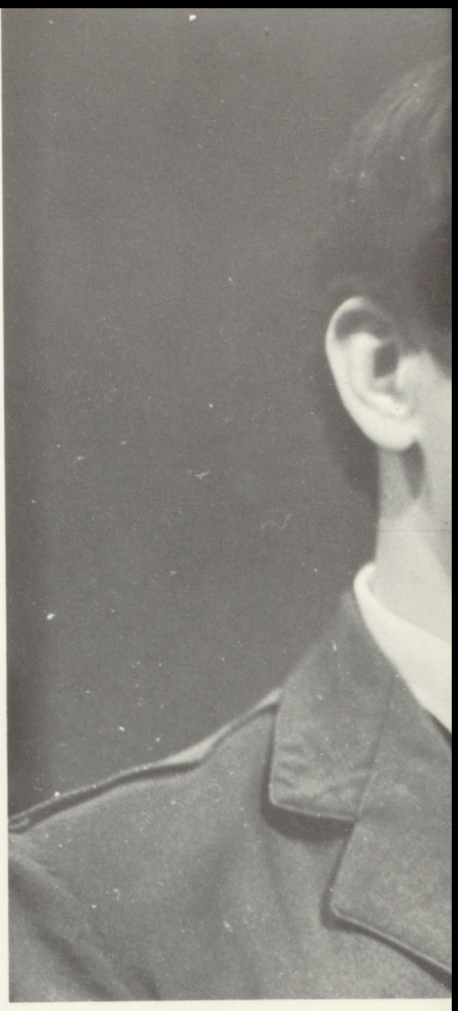

Mr. Steve Pudenz was the director and Denise Bloomquist was student director.

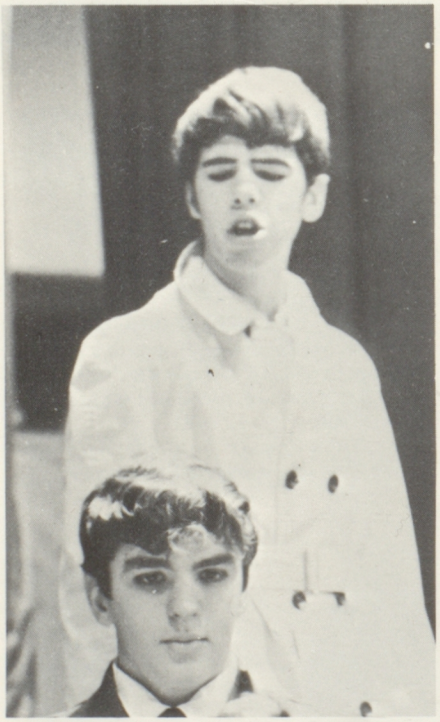

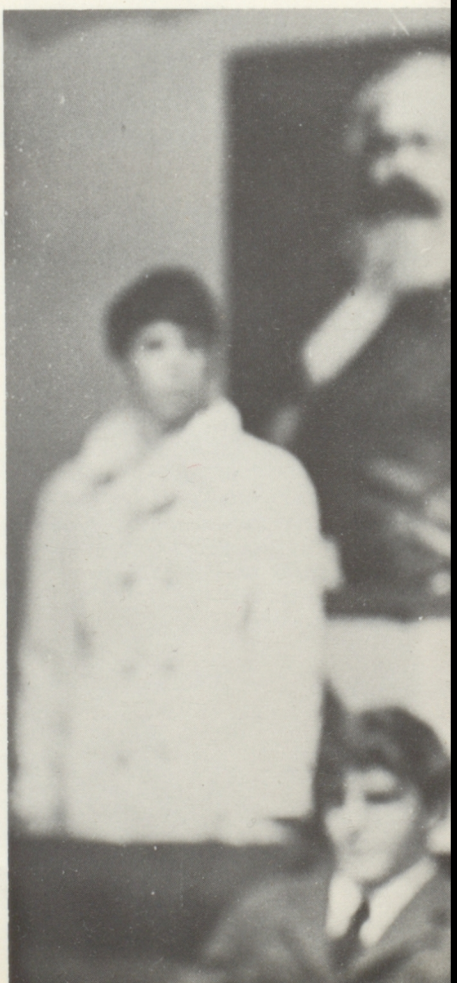

Igor Romanoff and Juliet Moulsworth, portrayed by Mike Morris and Debbi Vance, cautiously appear before the General, portrayed by Brooke Billick, during a rehearsal for "Romanoff and Juliet".

Bob Rucker waits for his "Big Moment" during a rehearsal for "Romanoff and Juliet."

The two soldiers, Bob Rucker and Jim Turner, try to peddle some of their assorted profane post cards and souvenirs to the General, Brooke Billick.

Russian Spy, Tom Wilmeth, questions Igor Romanoff, Mike Morris, about his love for the American ambassador's daughter, Juliet.

Evdokia, the Russian ambassador's wife, Carol Bailey, confesses her sins and her love for a black hat she's seen in a store window.

Romanoff, Mike Morris, and Juliet, Debbie Vance, sit in a tight embrace as they recall their romantic escapades of the night before.

Administration cooperative with students, maintains liberalism

Mr. Miskimins struggles to finish the mountain of paperwork that constantly fills his desk.

Mr. Wendell Miskimins, Miss Vera Kendall, and Dr. Donald Wetter observed classes in the annual evaluation of all the faculty. A beneficial side effect of this evaluation for the advisors was the better understanding of teacher-student relations.

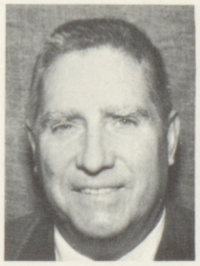

Communcation between students and administration was reached with meetings between the Student Advisory Board and Dr. Wetter. Miss Kendall sponsored Senior Board and Girls' Club.

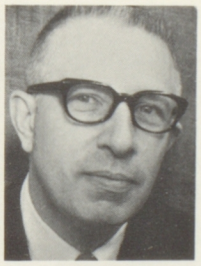

Attending one of the Student Advisory Board meetings, in which the administration learned of questions and problems of the students, is principal Dr. Wetter.

Miss Kendall manages to find something good to laugh about among the many problems she encounters every day.

English dept. revises program; wide array of courses available

The English Department completely threw out tradition and changed its whole program so it could better serve the interests of the students.

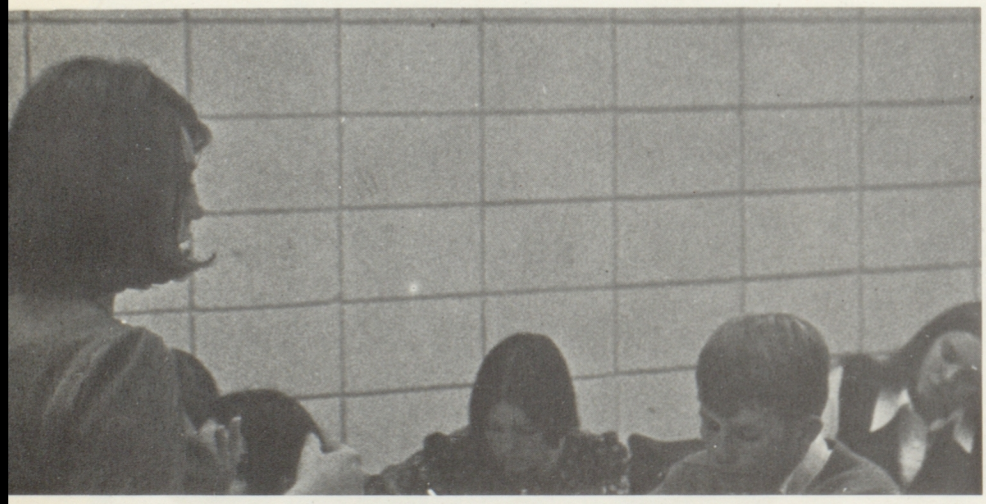

Sophomore students could test out of phases in English and do independent study. They chose the courses they wanted to take, but speech was still required. If the students qualified for Forensics, they could substitute it in place of Speech.

Juniors had a wide array of subjects from which to choose. Writing Lab., Individualized Reading, which was the study of novels, were some of the choices. A student had to take a composition course for one semester and a literature or communications course for the other semester.

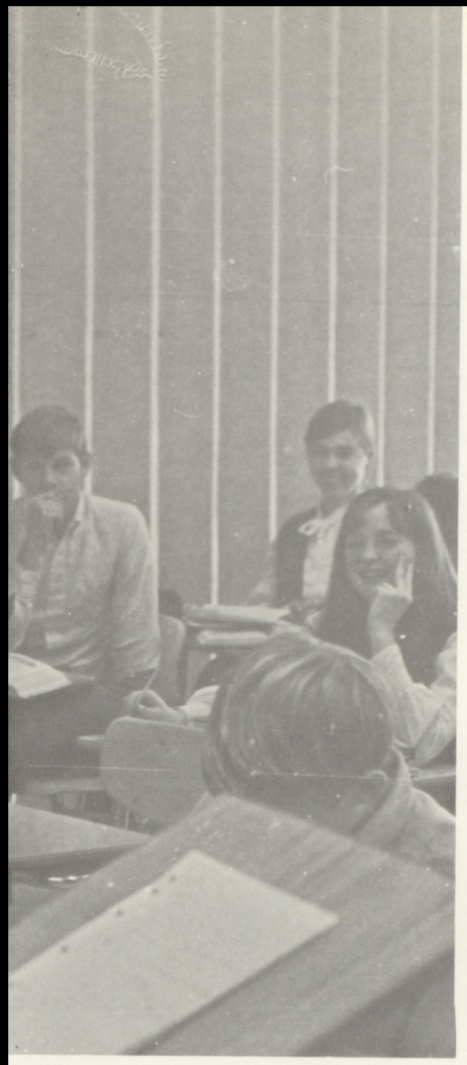

Seniors stayed on the traditional English program, but senior English instructors devised a new program which was to be implemented next year. This was the last year for tracking in the English department.

Nine-week mini courses provide more depth in student learning

A new curriculum for sophomores and juniors was born this year. The students had the power to choose what fields they wanted to study. A full year of social science was required, but the year was divided into four nine week mini courses. This program allowed specialization of study.

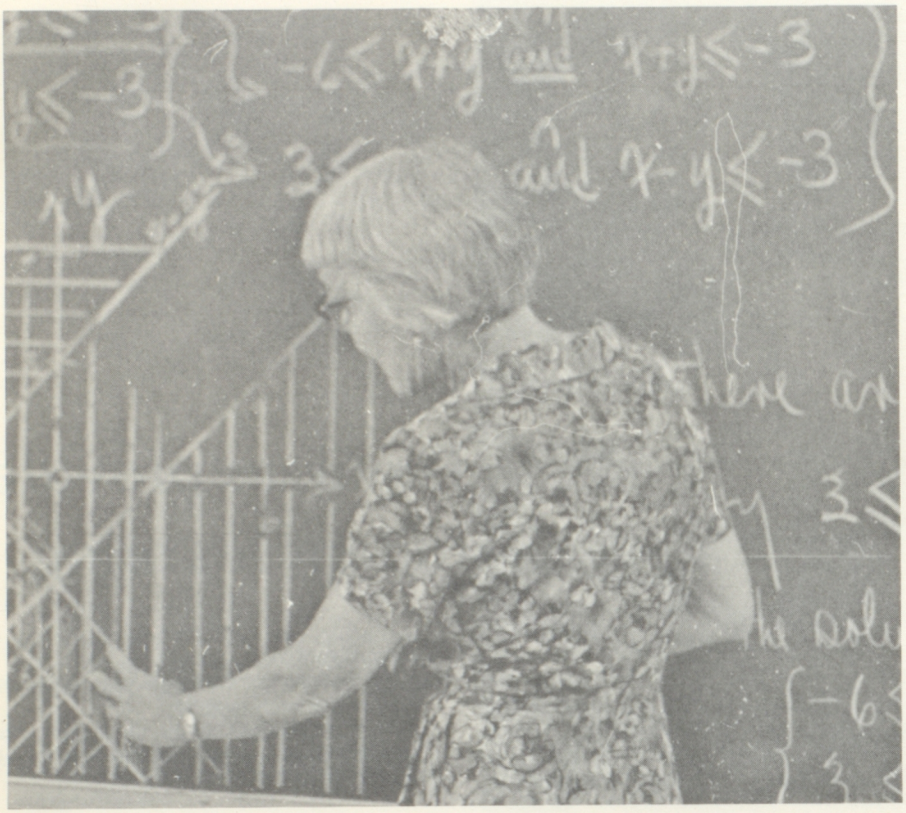

All students had the option of going on the independent study program.

Seniors remained on the old system, one semester of Government and one semester of Economics.

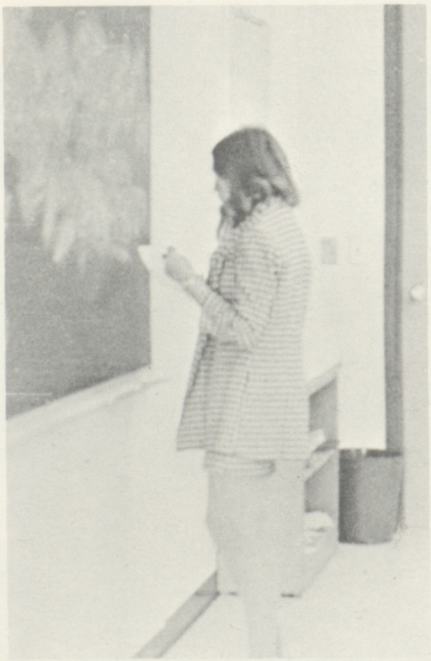

"It's just as simple as that!" says Mr. Tannatt to one of his economics classes.

Range of math courses is widened

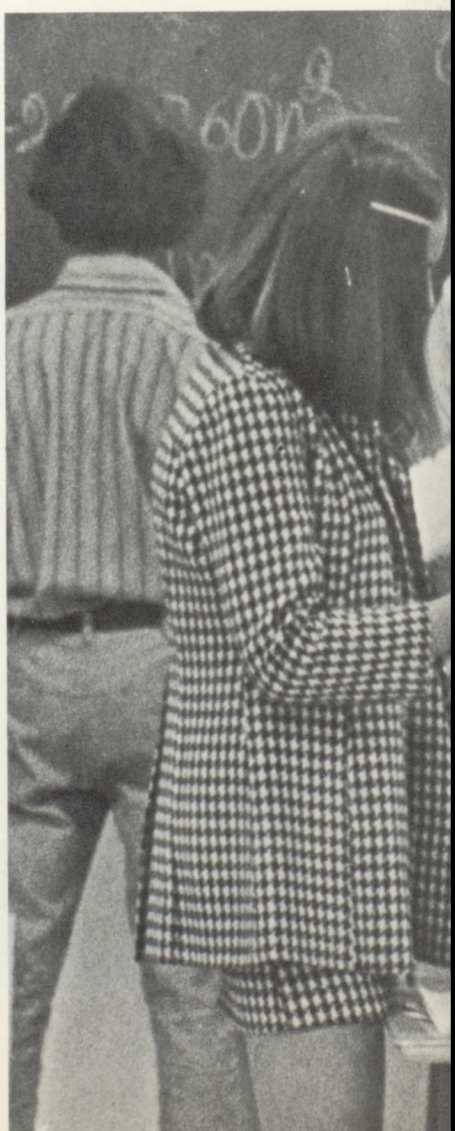

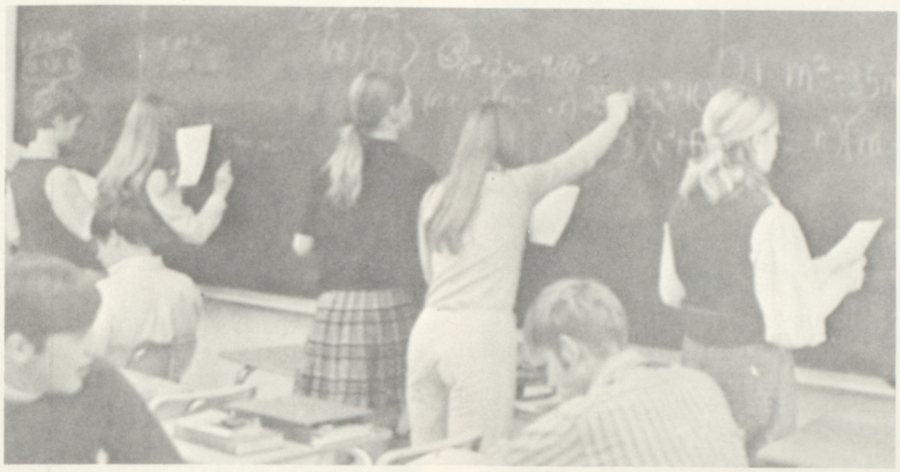

Along with the other math courses, Algebra, Geometry, Algebra II, College Math, and Math Appreciation, a new course was offered to Hoover students this year. The new Statistics course dealt with mean, mode, data analysis and sampling techniques. Mr. Ron Storm hoped to present an interesting view and a total picture of numbers.

Science department develops new course in Physical Science

A new course, Physical Science, was offered as a terminal science course or an introductory course to Chemistry or Physics. It was a combination of the principles behind these courses and was designed to alleviate problems students had previously encountered in taking Physics or Chemistry. It was not, however, a substitute for either.

Biology was also offered to students and the team teaching technique was used.

Creativity is extended through art and applied art curriculum

Art was a totally creative course which allowed each student to express himself at his own rate of artisic development.

Studied in Mrs. Esther Elliott's art course was sculpture and the principles and elements of design. Emphasis was placed on drawing.

In Miss Jane Peterson's classes, students worked entirely with silver, wood, textile materials, and clay.

New leaders assume duties, initiate change

Hoover's new band director, Mr. Ron Battani, improved the marching band by adopting the Drake University marching system.

Hoover had a 75 member concert band plus marching, pep, and jazz bands.

The concert choir performed three Christmas concerts and two spring concerts. The jazz band accompanied the swing choir. Karen Van Fleet was acting president of the fifty member choir.

The new orchestra director was Mr. James Brauninger. The orchestra presented several concerts with concert choir.

Skits, plays provide spice for languages

There were a variety of languages from which Hoover students could choose. They were Spanish, Latin, German, French, and Russian, which was offered as an independent study project this year.

A number of teaching techniques were used so that students could better understand the people and the culture of the language they were studying. Students read magazines, such as the Readers' Digest, printed in the foreign language used. They performed plays and skits to highlight their language studies.

A style show was given to the PTA in April.

Plans for circut design and information on labor organizations, contracts and industrial jobs filled the minds of Industrial Art students. They worked with materials such as wood, fiber glass, and metal.

The advanced drafting students concentrated on designing and making model housing.

PE programs provide fitness

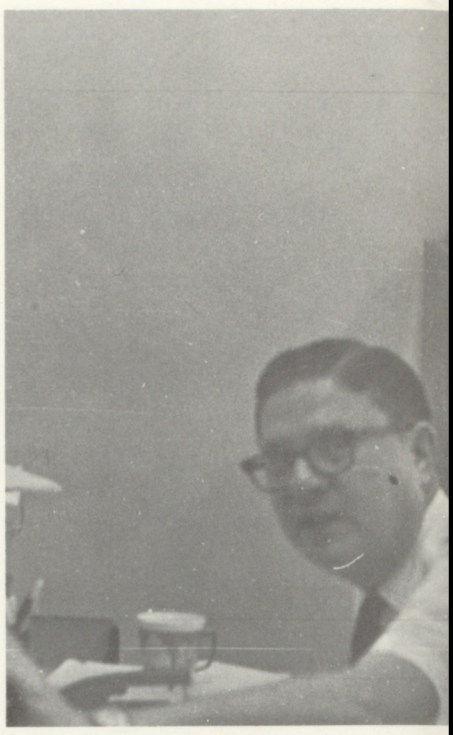

The physical education program provided students with the regular fall, winter, and spring sports, but with a variety of extra-curricular intramural sports activities. The program included football, basketball, swimming, exercises, and archery. Gym was offered on an every day basis for all boys and sophomore girls. Junior and senior girls took gym every other day.

Library offers unique VTR conveniences

Books, magazines, resource materials and extensive video-tape films and filmstrips were stocked in the archives of Hoover's library.

This year the Hoover library was greatly improved. A special effort was made in selecting quality books that would prove to be most useful to Hoover students.

There were fifteen library assistants and six boys who assisted the faculty with video-tape recorder equipment.

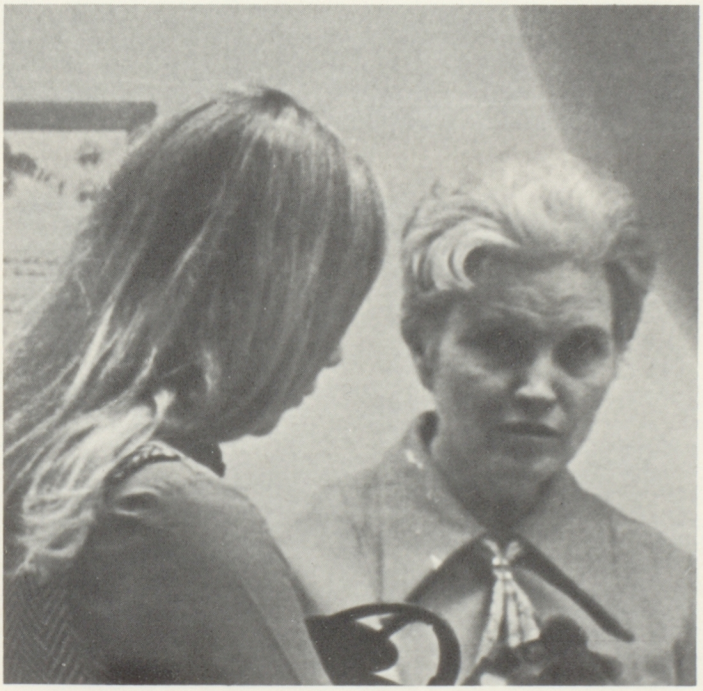

Draft counciling is introduced

Draft counseling was offered to Hoover's boys this year. Counselors presented both pros and cons about the draft, but did not advise boys as to whether they should or should not serve. Information from the American Friends Service Committee was available.

The counselors guided college bound seniors in their selection of colleges and advised students on their course studies at Hoover.

Mr. Jankovitz, Mr. Harold Olson, Mr. Kenneth Wittkop, and Mrs. Margaret Campbell were the counselors this year.

Hoover's batmen compiled an over-all 16-4 record and captured second place in the Metro conference with an 11-3 record under the coaching of Mr. Bob Watson.

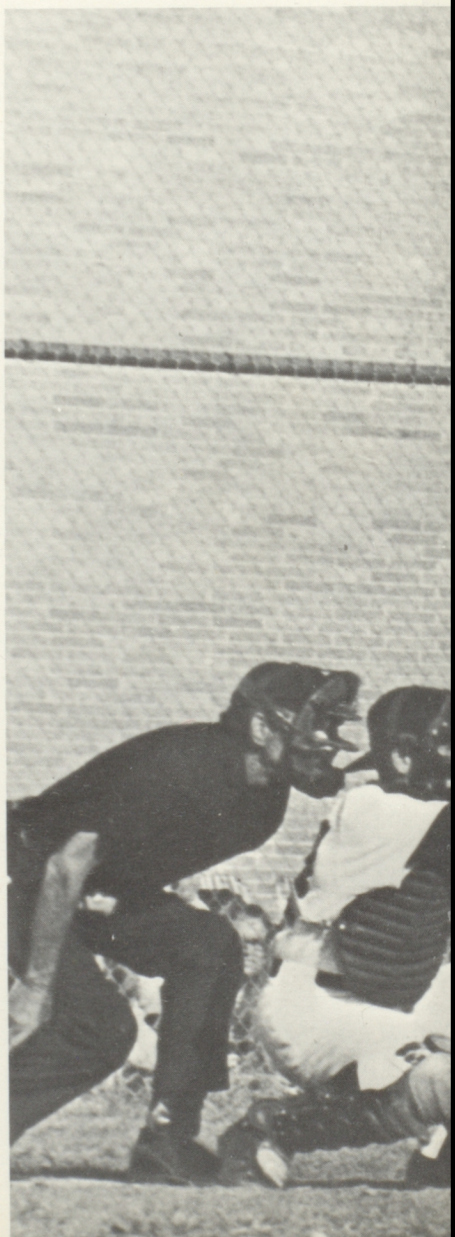

Senior third baseman Greg Davenport became Hoover's first representative on the All State first team with a .391 batting average. Greg also compiled a 6-1 record as a pitcher.

Teammate Dennis Strode earned a position on the All State fourth team as a catcher.

In the Metropolitan conference, both Strode and Davenport were named to the All City first team. Jack Huff earned second team All City honors at first base with a .359 average, while Tom DeAngelo made second team All City as an outfielder. Pitcher Ted Christensen also made the second team with a 5-1 record. Dwight Creger received honorable mention as a pitcher.

The junior varsity team finished with a 9-9 season under the direction of Mr. Bert Adams.

Huskies end with 3-5; Martin leads offense

The 1970-71 football season started out to be a long one as there were many disappointments. The Huskies finished the season with a 3-4 conference record and a 3-5 over-all record. After losing the first five games, the Huskies seemed to mature and came on strong to win the Homecoming game against North and the season finale against East. Both of these teams were state ranked throughout the season.

Leading the team on offense for the third year in a row was senior Terry Martin with 534 yards. Hoover out-rushed opponents 1104 yards to 1089 yards. Tom DeAngelo, Scott Dickinson, and Dan Metzger were elected tri-captains. Metzger was the only Husky making the first Metro team. Receiving honorable mention were Steve Dickinson, Dan Verfurth, Bill Streyfeller, Scott Dickinson, Tom DeAngelo, and Terry Martin. Martin and Metzger also received All-State honorable mention.

Pups acquire experience, offense gains 2,968 yds.

The sophomore football team was the best in Hoover's four years. Head coach Bob Wells and his team compiled a 5-3 over-all record and were 5-2 in the city.

The team had an impressive offense which amassed a total of 2,968 yards gained. Much of this yardage was the work of Rahn Bjornson, who was the leading rusher with 1,444 yards and 22 touchdowns. The defense was led by Dennis Halsted and Jan Garwick.

Harriers take state in cross country two mile

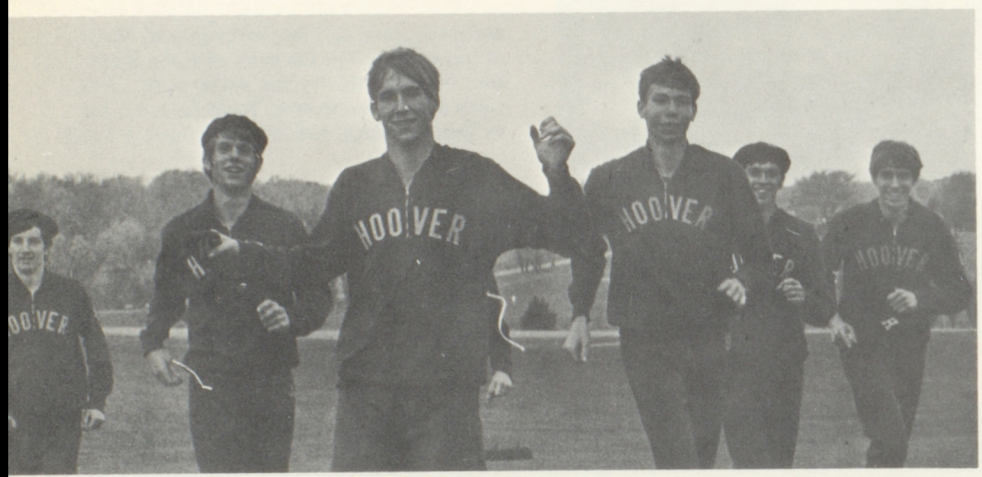

The Harriers led by Bob Hughes, Rick Hall, Frank Wellborne, Tom Howland, and Dennis Cloe compiled a perfect 7-0 record and captured the Metro title for the third year in a row. Under the direction of Mr. David Linder, the Harriers have now won 32 dual meets in a row.

After capturing their own Invitational, the Harriers ran to a third place finish in the state one mile run. Later they captured first place in the state two mile run.

Seniors Rick Hall and Bob Hughes were named team captains with Hughes being named the most outstanding runner. The Harriers were managed by senior Doug Hyde and sophomore Joe Viola.

Winning attitude leads Huskies to sub-state; season ends 17-4

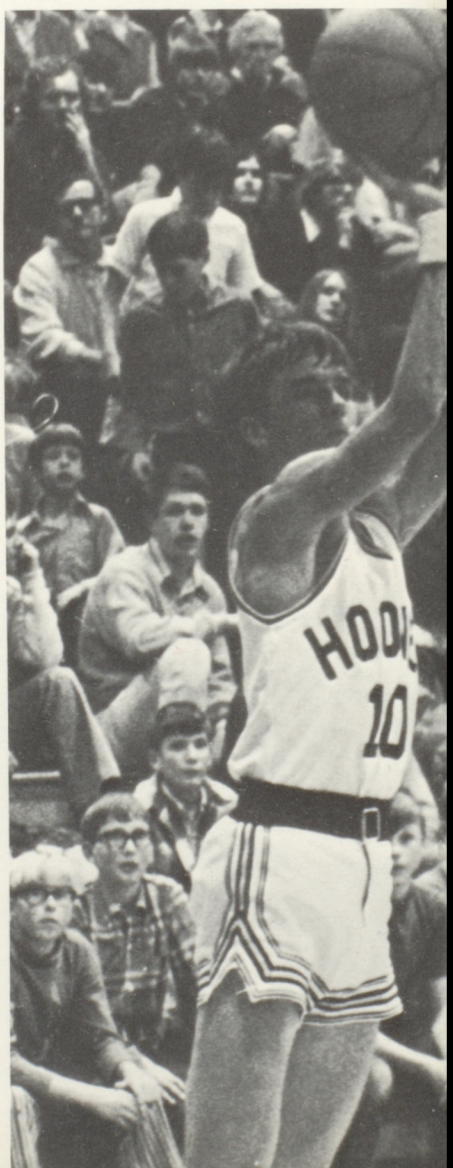

Opening the season with only one returning letterman, the 1970-71 Huskies finished with a 17-4 record. After losing starters Dan Schwartz and John Kothenbeutal midway through the season, the Huskies won the district and finished second in the Metro Conference. Coach Bert Adams attributed their success to pride and a tremendous winning attitude.

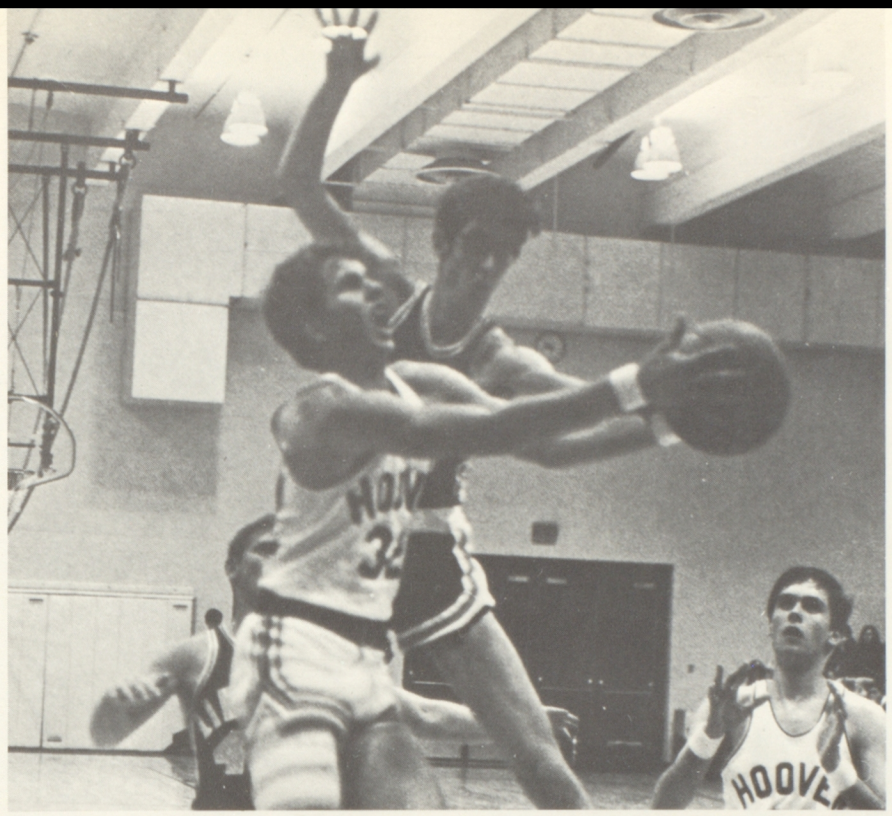

Leading the team was All-City guard John John, the only Husky on the first unit, set reccords in field goals in a game, career assists, and highest season average at 18.6. Rounding out the Huskies All-City selections were Jon DePhillips and Dan Schwartz on the second team and Scott Dickinson as honorable mention.

The team averaged 67.5 points a game to opponents 58.3.

The junior varsity "Golden Eagles" compiled a 3-4 record under the coaching of Jim Stark.

Wrestlers finish fifth in city race; Hammer, Smith are co-captains

Coached by Jerry Gay, the wrestling team closed out the season with a 5-6-0 record and a fifth place finish in the conference. They also placed second at the North Quadrangular and second in the sectional.

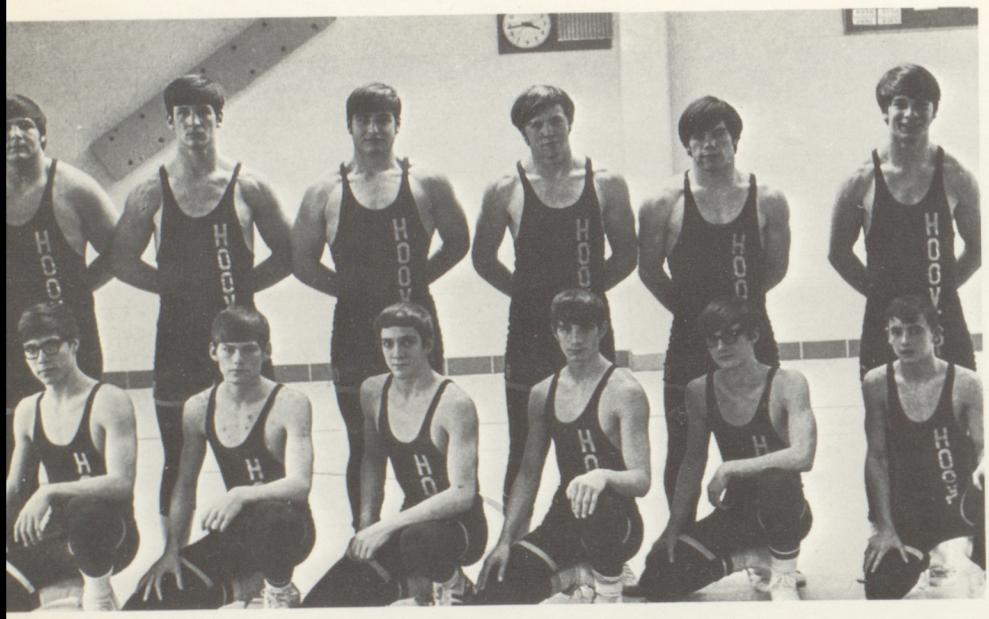

Voted co-captains were Bill Hammer and Dan Smith. Most Valuable Wrestler was Dennis Halsted, who edged out Kirk Devine and Dan Verfurth. Dan Smith was voted Most Improved Senior. The same award went to junior Mark Schillerstrom and sophomores Dennis Halsted and Barry Waters.

Team matches won (107), most individual pins (Dennis Halsted — 10), and seven new quick pins were among new records set.

The junior varsity team, led by city champions Barry Waters and Bill Waggoner, also finished at 5-6-0. Sophomores finished at 5-2-0.

Swimmers earn second in state, end Roosevelt's city dominance

Tremendous sprinters, great team balance, and depth were all reasons for the success of the varsity swimming team. It was a season in which all dual meet records were broken except the 100 yard butterfly.

John Arnot was the Most Valuable Swimmer with 149 points for the season high. Dave Alsager captured the three season scoring record with 278 points.

Co-captains were Dave Alsager and Mark Crouch, and the Most Improved Swimmer was Jim Humpal. The state diving title went to Joe Watts.

One of the season's highlights was the defeat of Roosevelt in the conference meet. It marked the first time in 41 years that Roosevelt was not conference champ.

Depth, outstanding seniors lead track team in breaking records

Depth and outstanding seniors made the 1970-71 track season a success. The Huskies ran in duel meets, district and state competition, and the Drake Relays. With the help of 14 returning lettermen, this year's team was the best looking and performing team Hoover has produced.

Leading the squad were distance men Frank Wellborne, Bob Hughes, Rick Hall, and Tom Howland. Senior Terry Martin and sophomore Rahn Bjornson led the sprinters. Adding strength in the field events were Kirk Ginn in the shot, and Dan Metzger in the discuss.

Many records fell this year, including the 600 yard run by Frank Wellborne and the indoor shot record by Kirk Ginn.

"Hey, Rick, wake up!" Greg Metge prods Rick Ansorge at an Advisory Board meeting.

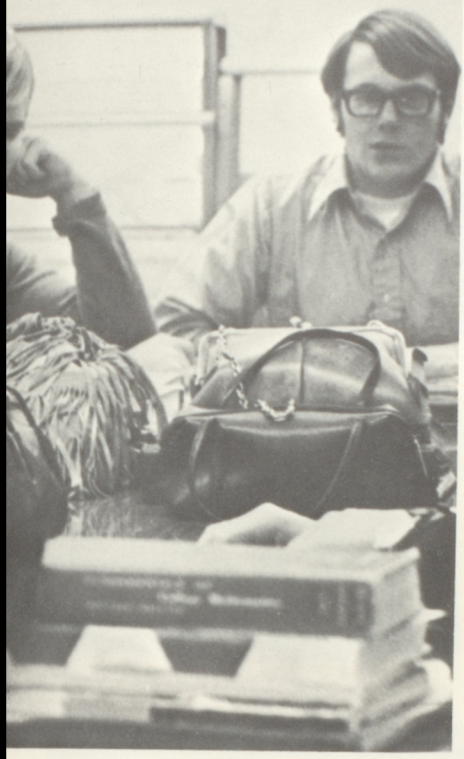

All-City Student Council representatives: Bill Todd, Steve Kleen, Debbie Freeborn, Roger Stetson, Linda Hyde, Greg Metge.

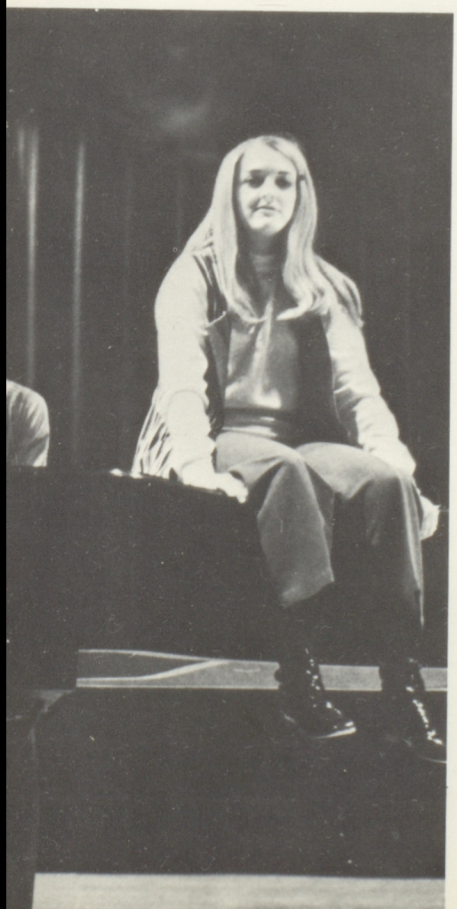

Second semester Student Council officers: Bob Manatt, vice-president; Jim Turner, secretary; Sam Tobis, president; Ann Gerdom, treasurer.

First semester Student Council officers: Randy Thomas, treasurer; Sam Tobis, secretary; John John, president; Don Johansen, vice-president.

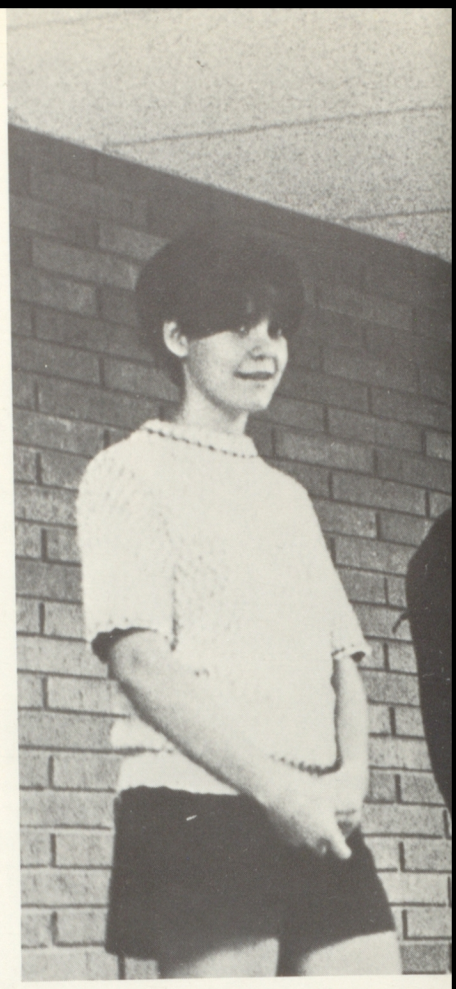

Student Council projects include open campus, open study halls

The major project of the first semester Student Council was Homecoming, under the direction of Jane Dickelman and Ann Gerdom. Other projects included the publishing of the student directories, headed by Mike Devine, and collecting money for Tom Dooley Day, headed by Pam Lange. A sophomore mixer was sponsored at the beginning of the year, under the direction of Bob Manatt.

Endeavoring to improve Student Council activities, the second semester council worked on a variety of projects. An amendment was added to the constitution providing for more committees. Cheap Thrills, a POW letterwriting campaign, and participation in Earth Action Week were among the activities of the council. The council also sent representatives to school board meetings and faculty meetings.

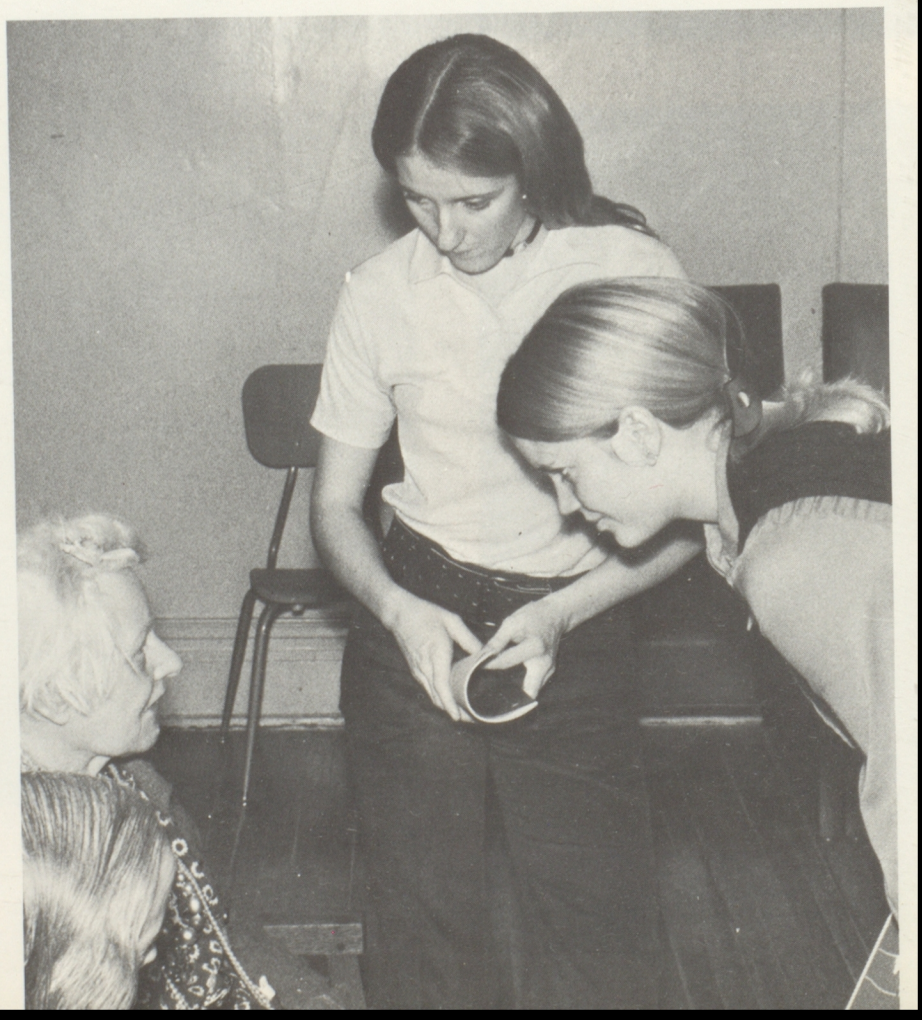

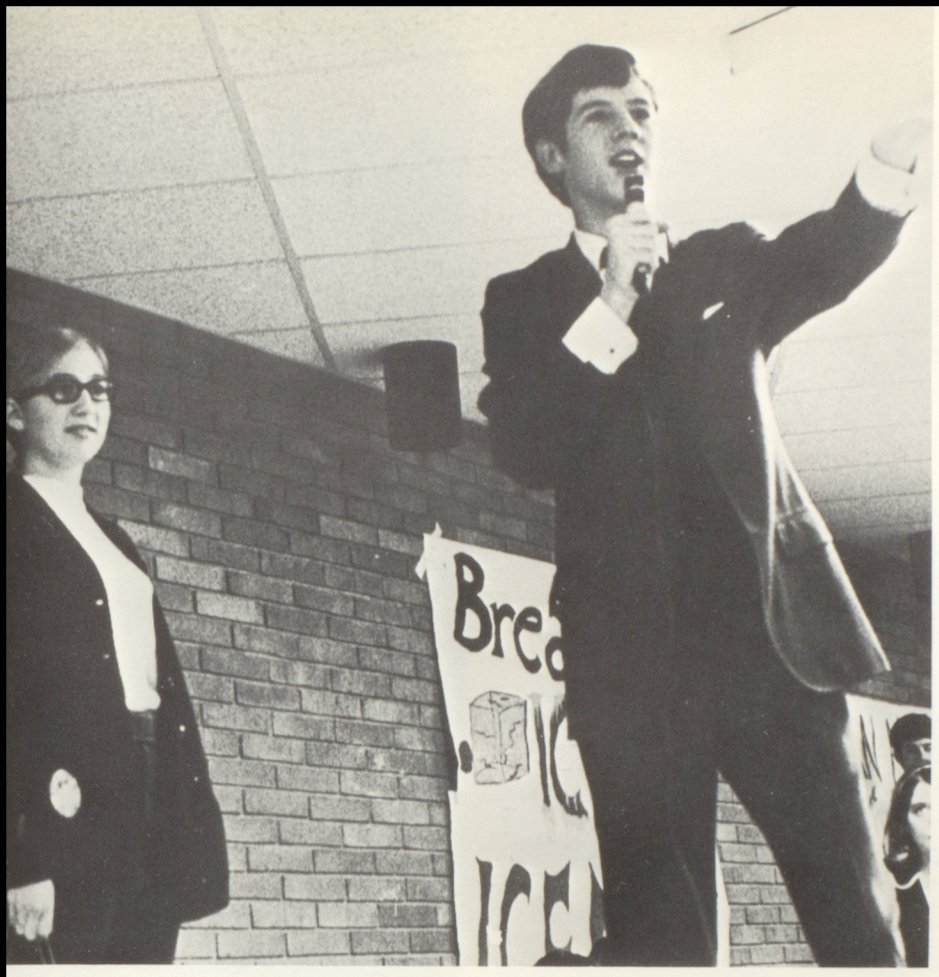

Tea, service projects highlight girls' activities

Girls' Club first activity was the Big-Little Sister Tea. The junior and senior girls held this tea for the sophomore girls in order to welcome them and acquaint them with traditions and clubs around the school. The club sold mums for Homecoming and sponsored a cake-off and Spirit Breakfast during Spirit Week. For their service project, the girls helped five families during Thanksgiving and Christmas by giving them food, money, and presents. Bake sales helped finance the projects.

During second semester activities centered mainly on school. "A World of Love" was the theme of the Valentine's Dance. In April a Fun Night was sponsored.

Diana McCollum was president, Pam VandeBerg was vice-president, Roxann Heger was secretary, and Pattie Brown was treasurer. Miss Vera Kendall and Mrs. Marsha Yelick were the club sponsors.

Musicians participate in numerous activities

Under the direction of a new band director, Mr. Ron Battani, the eighty-member band marched at all metro-conference football games. The Pep Band played at home basketball games.

A new stage band, formed in October, placed fourth in the S.C.I.B.A. contest at North High and played at the Fine Arts show in February. They presented a special program in May called "Jazz Band '71".

Outside school activities for the band included marching in the Drake Relays and Armed Forces Day parades. They also acted as the Drake pep band at the Drake-Minnesota basketball game in December.

The band presented concerts in December and March.

Baton Twirlers and Flag Twirlers, a new organization, marched with the band during football season and spring parades.

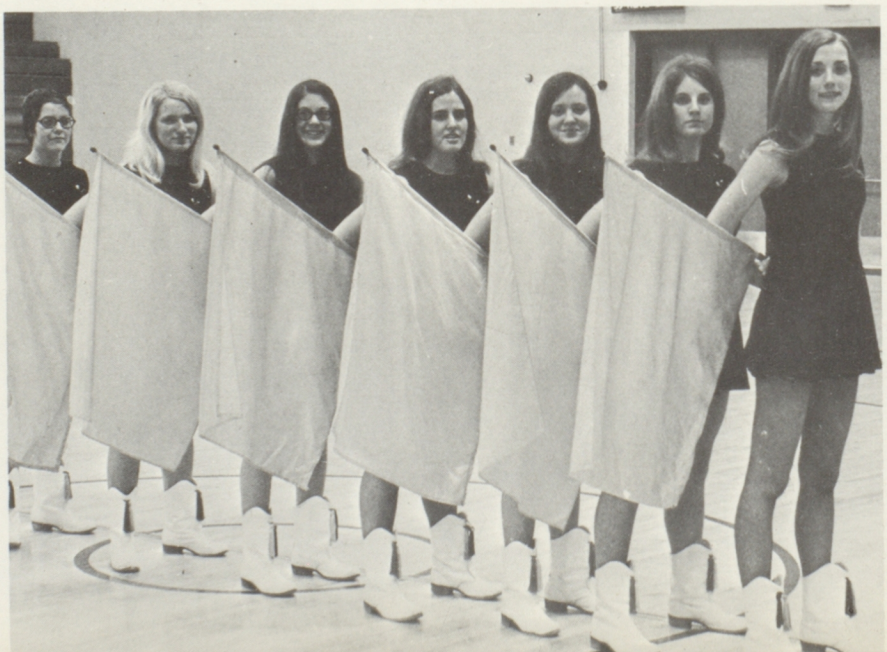

All-State participants were Jim Landwehr, Ellyn Rullested, Leslie Myron, Marilyn Cook, and Ann Gerdom.

The orchestra, consisting of 18 string players and 17 woodwind players, presented concerts in December and March. The string players presented concerts at Plymouth Place in October and Calvin Manor.

The new director was Mr. James Brauninger and student director was Greg Bloom.

Practicing daily for orchestra were the string players. The entire orchestra met Tuesday and Thursday.

Choir expands actions, entertains Illinois group

The 56-member Concert Choir combined with Boys' Glee to present two major concerts, one at Christmas and one during the spring. Members of Concert Choir performed at Lake Park High School in Chicago with the Des Moines Youth Symphony in April. The choir hosted the Lake Park choir for a concert which that choir presented here.

The 55-member Girls' Glee Club performed with Concert Choir in the Christmas and spring concerts.

The new Swing Choir presented a Christmas program with the band. They had a special choreographer, Chris Majava. The members of Swing Choir were selected from Concert Choir. The group received new red, white, and blue uniforms.

Accompianists for the vocal groups were Jean Baeth, Pam VandeBerg, Jane Gnant, and Lisa Fridley.

N.F.L. gains recognition; sponsors Fall Classic

Hoover's showcases were stuffed with the many trophies and ribbons won by the National Forensic League and the Hoover Forensic League. Debators traveled to thirty tournaments throughout Iowa and Omaha. Last summer they competed at Kansas City, which was their second year to compete in debate at a national level. They sponsored the traditional "Hoover Fall Classic" tournament and initiated the metro-senate sessions.

The debate topic this year was "Resolved that: The federal government should establish, finance and administer programs to control air and water pollution." The debators gathered their own information by writing congressmen and contacting other outside opinions.

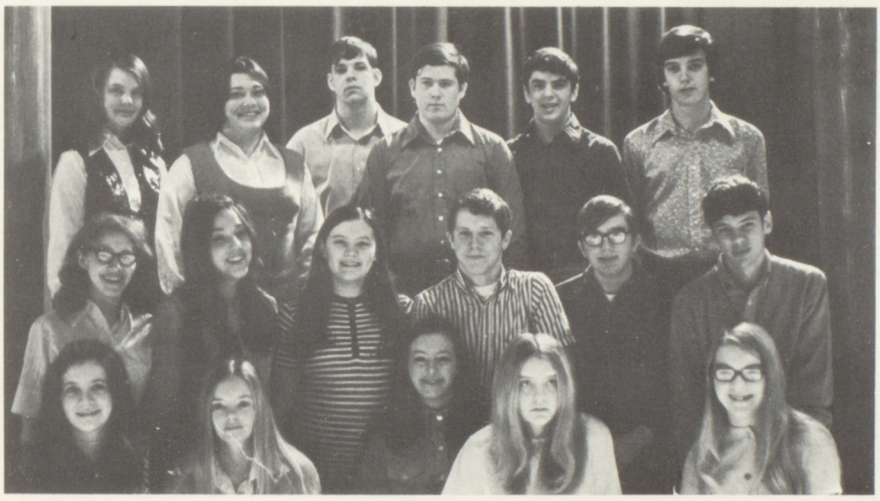

Individual events at forensics contests composed the other activities of the group.

Officers were: Greg Metge, president; Ann Cornwell, vice-president; Cathy Zinger,secretary; and Dave Delap, treasurer.

Debate coach and sponsor of the organization, Mrs. Ruth Laws, was awarded the "Coach of the Year" award for her outstanding contributions to forensics in Iowa.

Dramatic excellence is Thespians' objective

The Thespian society kept busy throughout the year, constantly working to promote dramatic excellence and establish Hoover as one of the leading schools for its' theatre productions.

They sponsored and produced the major productions and six one-acts. "Herbert" awards, similar to the "Oscar" awards, highlighted their activities and were a means of saluting the graduating Thespians.

Officers were: Rick Ansorge, president; Carol Bailey, vice-president; Sue Carlson, secretary; and Roger Fish, treasurer. The new sponsor was drama coach Mr. Steve Pudenz.

Candy campaign nets $1000 for Hooverettes

A candy-selling campaign brought over $1000. to the Hooverettes, who bought new marching equipment with the money.

The Hooverettes had a full year of activities. Besides marching at all the home football games and home basketball half-time shows, they marched at Simpson, Drake, and Grandview college games. Their parade season included the Drake Relays, Pella Tulip Festival, and Armed Forces Day parades. The year climaxed with a banquet and selection of new officers.

Students participating in Distributive Education attended morning classes and worked in retail stores for on-the-job training in the afternoons. They received not only a credit, but pay for their work.

DECA operated a bookstore and sold paperback books that were assigned by classroom teachers. They also sold Heath candy for another money-making project.

Mr. Paul Brust was the club sponsor. Officers were Mike Roskam, president; Dave Goodman, vice-president; Vicky Johnson, secretary; Cindy Russell, treasurer; Kathy Klockentager, historian; and Bill O'Donnel, parliamentarian.

Activities, aid to people occupy club members

Visiting the March of Dimes Birth Defect Center in Iowa City and holding Halloween and Christmas parties for crippled children at the Easter Seal Center were some of the activities of the Red Cross. They sponsored a Red Cross booth at the Iowa State Teachers' Convention and collected for the United Campaign.

One of the main objectives of Future Secretaries was to provide experience in the field of business. Various speakers spoke about their jobs, including Sue Rush, a former Hoover student, who discussed court reporting.

Future Teachers provided members an insight into the career of teaching by presenting guest speakers and going on field trips. Some members acted as teacher aides at Moore Elementary and Meredith Jr. High.

Health Careers Club took a Christmas basket to an underprivileged family. Through the year programs were presented about the health related fields.

Conventions, dancing occupy club members

Latin Club, a state and local chapter of the Junior Classical League, participated in many local and state foreign language banquets and sent their president, Daisy Wannamaker, to the 1970 National Convention in August. Other activities were the sponsorship of the second International Volleyball Tournament and a major part in the state JCL convention in April.

Other officers were Debbie May, secretary-treasurer; and Peggy Nelson, first-year representative.

Dance Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Diana Skaggs performed in the variety show "Life In Vertigo". They presented four dance numbers in the show. Throughout the year Dance Club members presented dances for the fifth and sixth hour Humanities Classes.

Library Aides, Athletes discover involvement

The Lettermen's Club tried to unite all students behind athletics, excell in all facets of sports, and promote sportsmanship. They sponsored money-raising activities in order to buy a new orange slush machine for the athletic department.

Coaches Bill Hodam and Bert Adams served as the sponsors. The officers were Tom DeAngelo, president; Dan Metzger, vice-president; Scott Dickenson, secretary; and Mark Kempkes, treasurer.

The library aides helped to keep the library running smoothly. They checked out books, magazines and ran errands for the library.

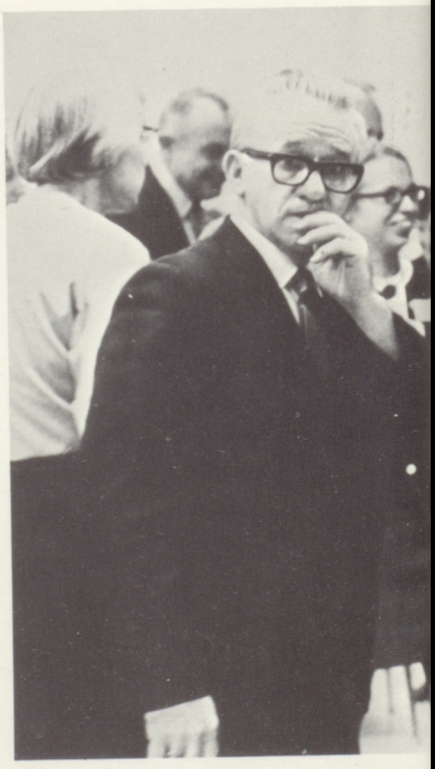

PTA promotes spirit by holding open houses

A parent-faculty picnic, a teachers' luncheon, open houses, and a bi-monthly calendar were only a few of the many activities sponsored by PTA.

Serving on the cabinet were Mrs. Don Gerdom president; Mrs. George Peterson, president-elect; Mr. and Mrs. William Metcalfe, first vice-president; Dr. Donald Wetter, second vice-president; Mrs. Harry Carlson, secretary; and Mrs. Frank Emly, treasurer.

Challenger and Husky photographers Steve Kelso and Kent Buckton search through negatives in the darkroom.

Challenger supplements staffs, types of stories

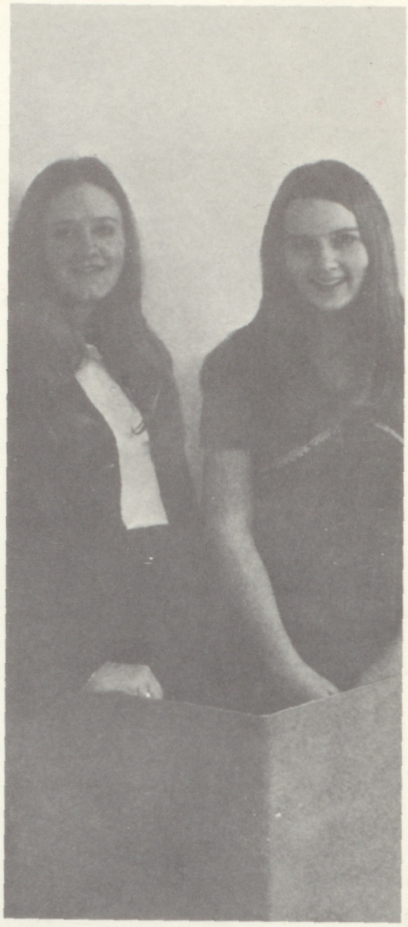

The Challenger staff members, in an attempt to create a better newspaper, wrote more controversial editorials, interpretive reports, and more unusual features on people and events outside of school activities.

There were two staffs for the paper, one for first semester and the other for second semester. This arrangement gave more people a chance to work as editors. Doug Grandquist was editor-in-chief first semester, and Steve Byam was editor-in-chief second semester. The faculty sponsor was Mrs. Ruth McHone.

Husky staff experiments with unique techniques

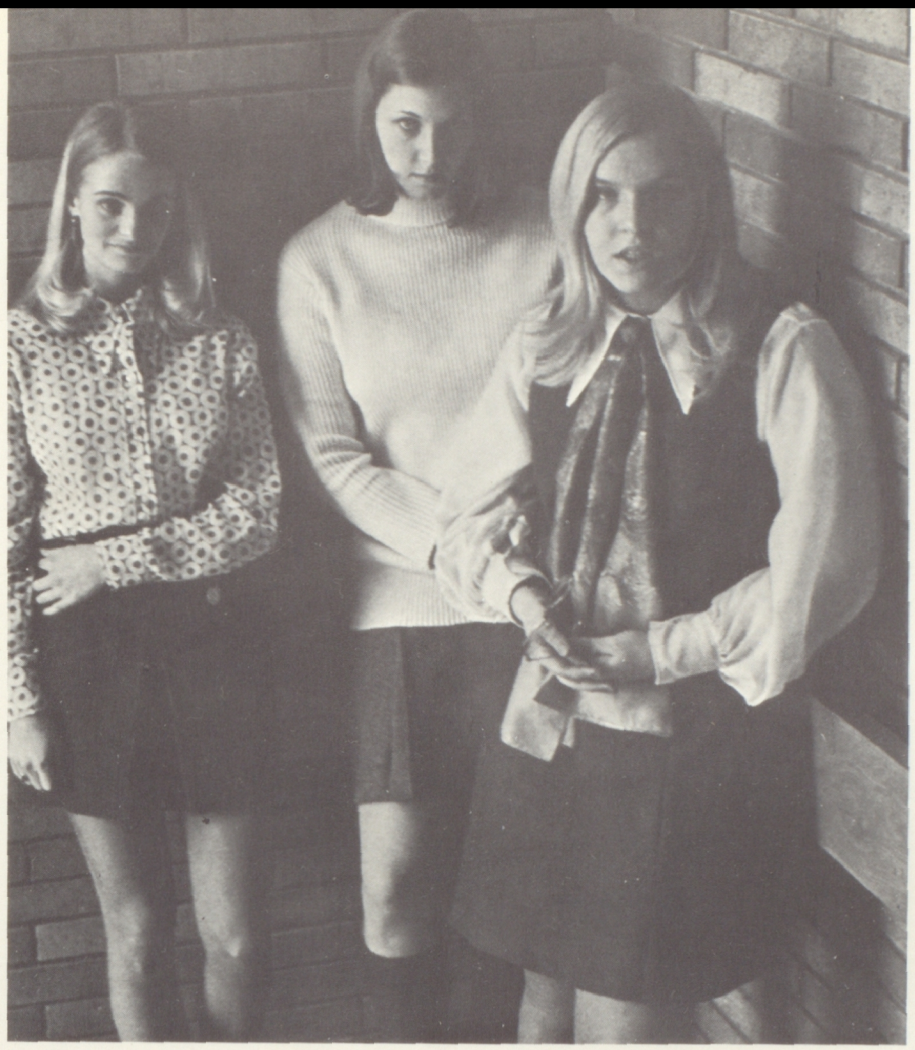

The 1971 Husky staff, in an attempt to create a unique yearbook, devoted many hours of work. A theme of "All We Are in '71" was carried out throughout the book. Division pages printed in direct line, dull enamel paper, and a navy blue and purple cover added to the individuality of the annual.

A new printing company and an inexperienced staff presented obstacles to the production of the book.

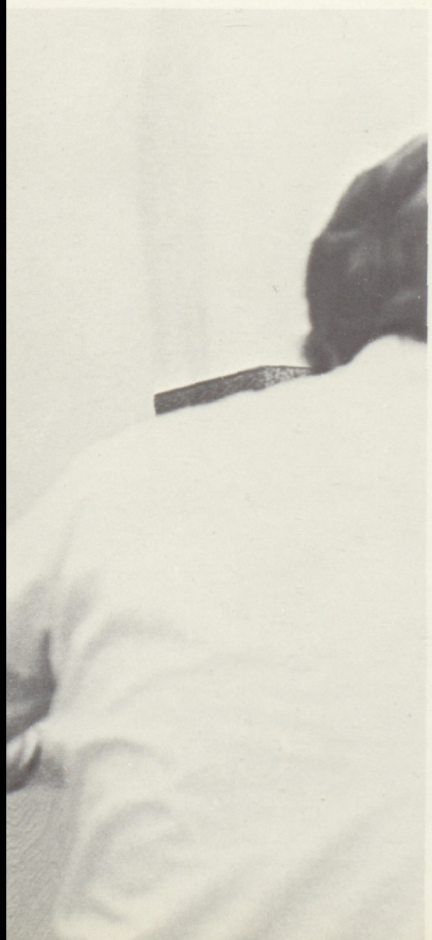

Diane Bondy, Mike Devine, Ann Schultz, and Dan Metzger take time out from their work as editors in sports, faculty and academics, organizations, and sports, respectively. Polly Miller, activities editor, is not pictured.

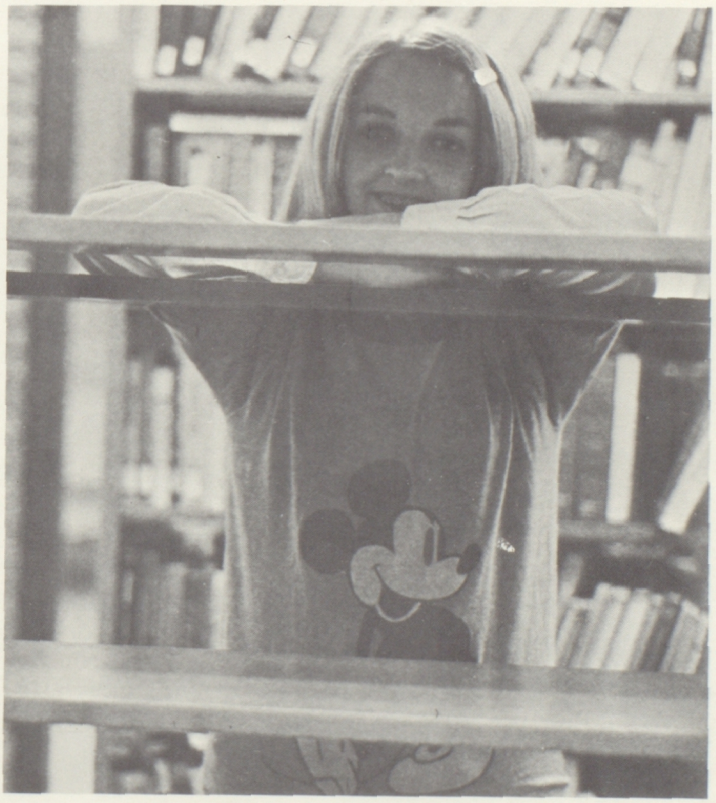

Identifying all underclassmen is the job of Linda Strawman, for sophomores, and Melodee Evans, for juniors. Chris Vest, senior section editor, is not pictured.

Adviser Ruth McHone manages a smile as a deadline is finally completed.

Posing in one of their quieter moments are Sheila Klinkel, business manager, Jane Waterbury, copy editor, and Kay Arvidson, layout editor.

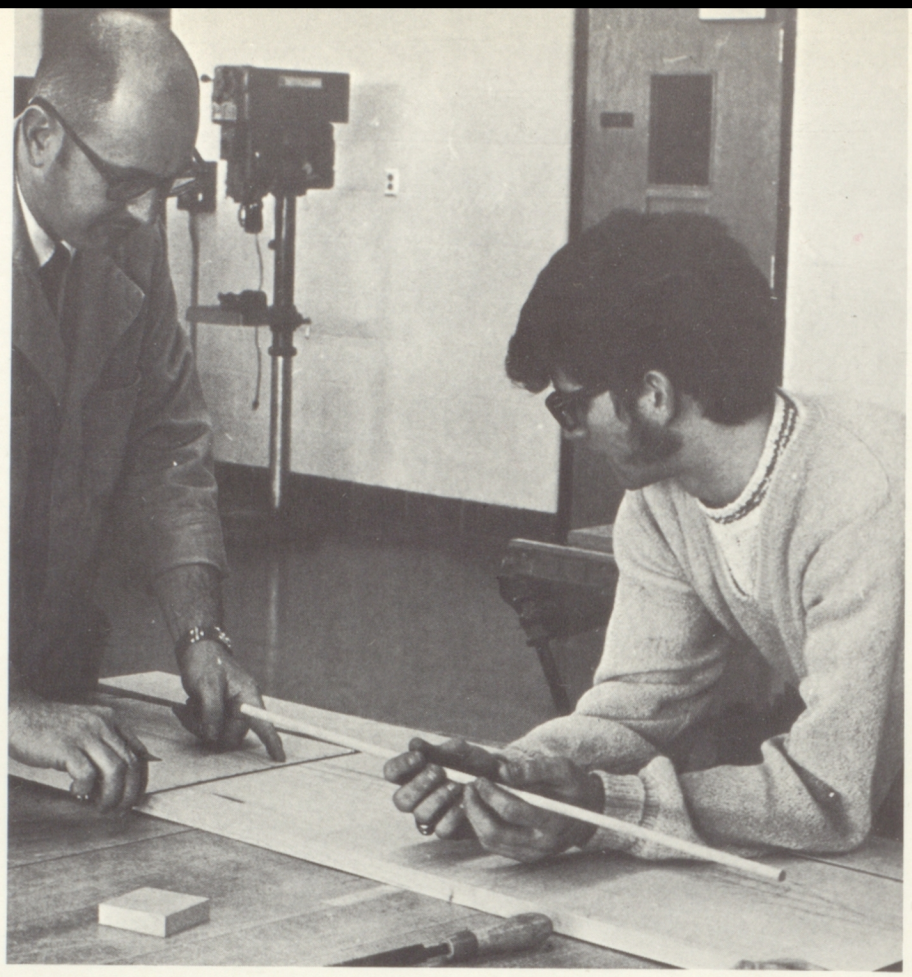

Who's the editor of the yearbook made for you and me?. A-n-n-i-e-G-e-r-d-o-m!

Classes

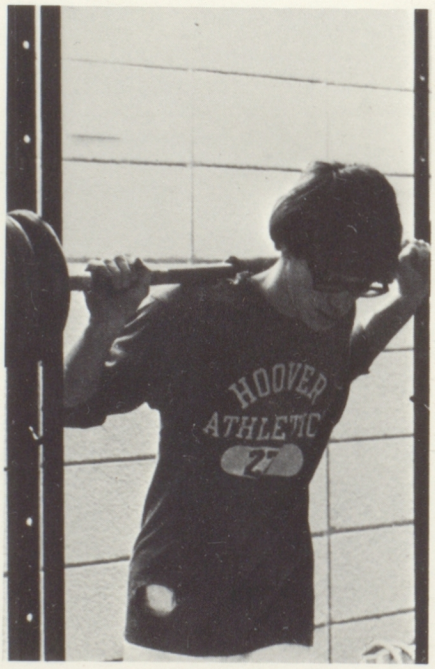

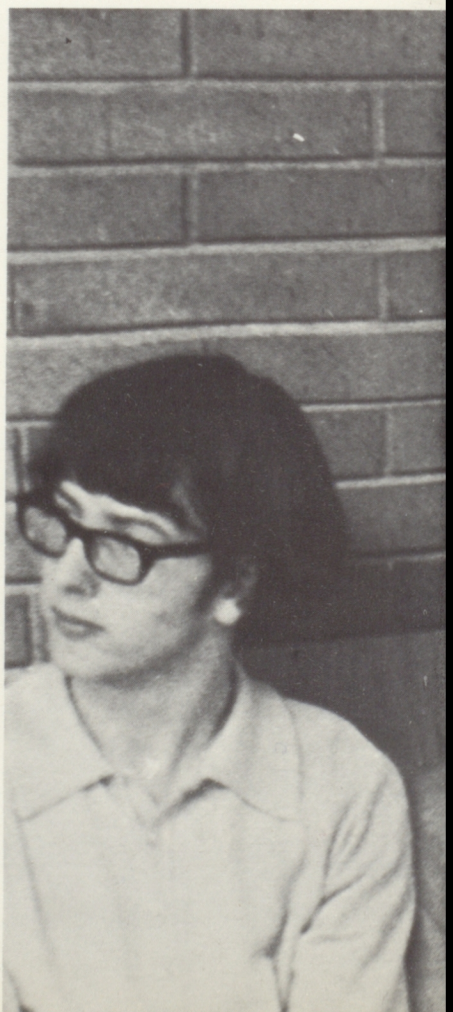

Senior class is a mixture

The 396 member senior class was a mixture of unusual and original people, combining apathy and dedication to student life. Seniors were the most active in Cross Country, drama, Girls' Club, swimming, and Student Council.

A new aspect of the senior dues was that only those seniors who wished to do so would contribute to the senior gift.

Mr. Gene Tychsen gives directions and assistance to Steve Kelso.

Jeff Johnston tests his strength during physical education class.

Ronnie Woods, Lance Andrews, and Sue Metcalfe show varing degrees of enthusiasm in class.

Steve Krohmer, Chris Stuart, Mike Fay, and Bob Porter assume the usual girl-watching position in the Student Center.

Class of '72 forms backbone of many students organizations

Juniors remained a very active and vital class at Hoover, and proved again to be the very backbone of many student organizations. Junior boys outnumbered the senior members of the football team and played an integral part in the Forensics Department.

The 415 juniors anxiously awaited their senior year when they could then take the responsibility of leading the school.

Mixer begins sophomore year, enthusiasm dominates students

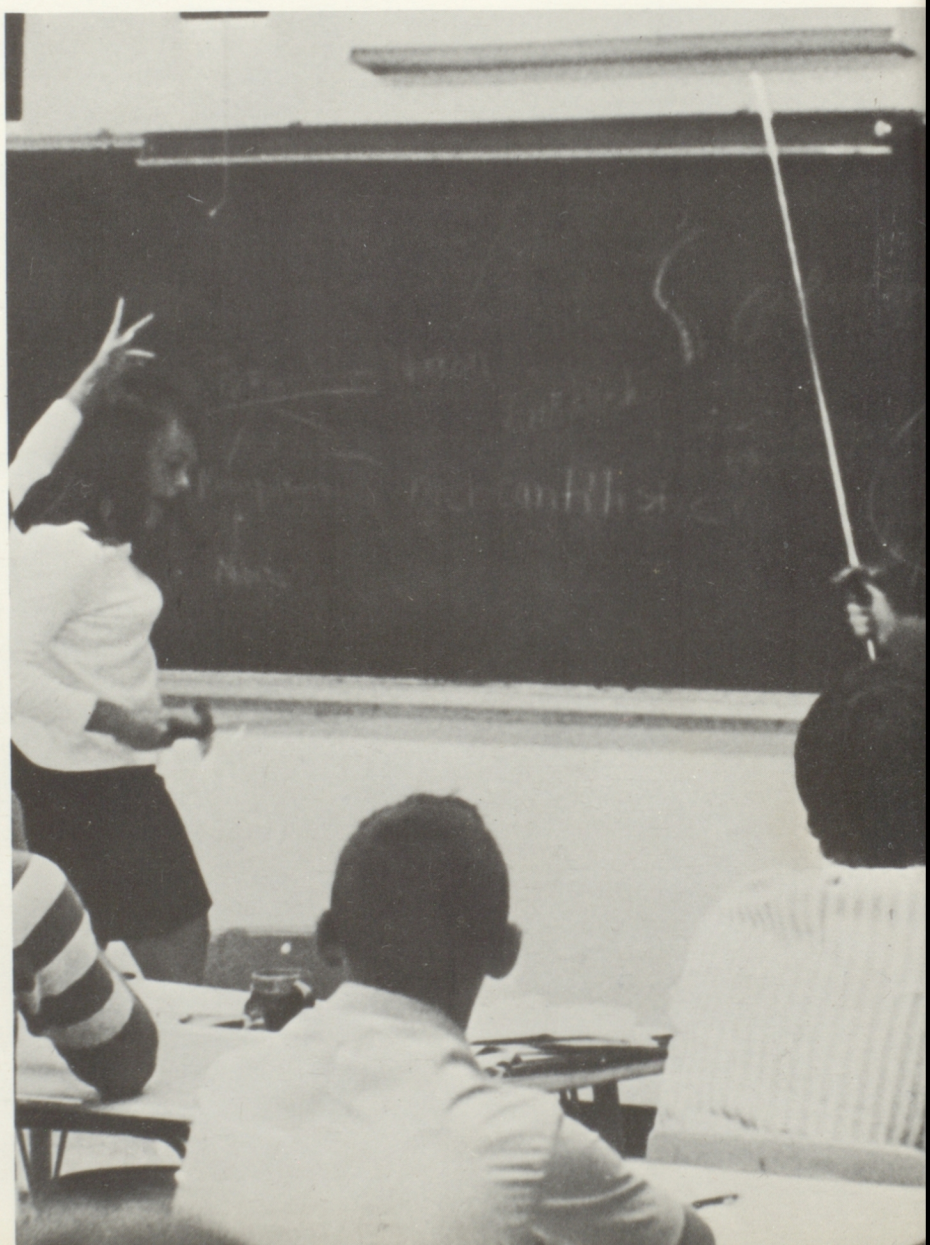

The Sophomore Class outnumbered both Junior and Senior classes with 458 members. Their first year of high school life was spirited and enthusiastic. They were the core of Pep Club and were very active in Girls' and Boys' Clubs. Sophs participated in all facets of athletics and brought a freshness to student life.

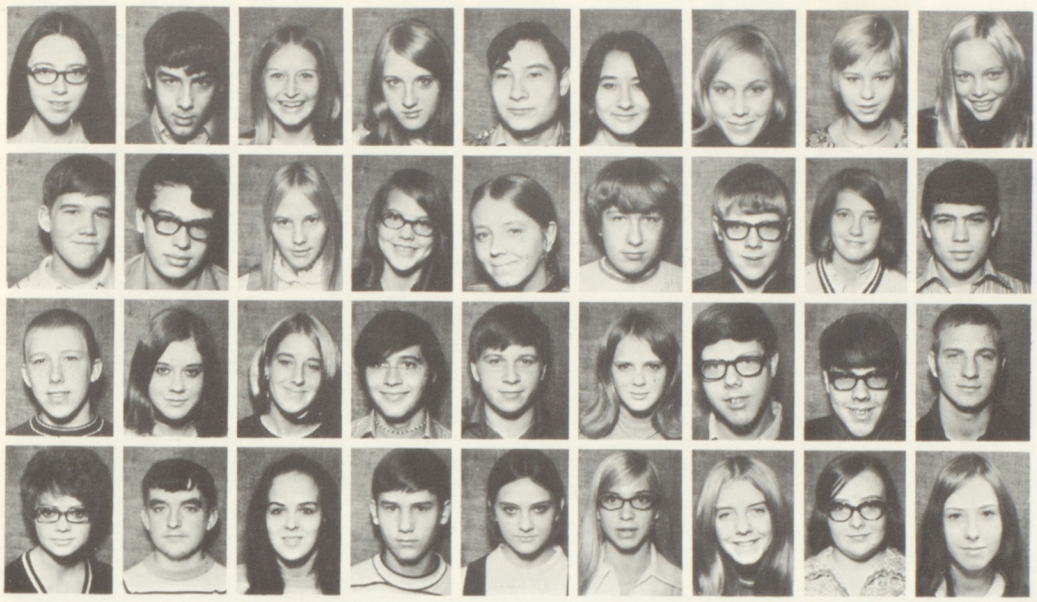

Sally Joslin makes peace with the camera as she walks to class.

"To Rock out or not to Rock out" that is the question which prevails in sophs' minds at the Sophomore Mixer.

One possible way of eliminating history from the curriculum is to remove the instructors. Linda Hyde attempts such a removal of Mr. Bordy.

The training of a mind is an exciting, lifetime adventure. The mind may be taught, or it may be self-trained. But, no matter the method used, an education is never finished. If serving your fellow man through work in the business world seems challenging to you, we hope you will come see us when your school days are over.

After many long hours of hard work, quarrelling among staff members, and frantic rushes for deadlines, Volume 4 of the Husky is finally finished. The publishing of a yearbook is not an easy job, and it was an experience which I will never forget. At the beginning of the year I had high expectations for the book, but the problems of a limited budget, an inexperienced staff, and a new printing company soon made me realize that we would have to do the best we could with what we had.

Of course I learned a lot about yearbooks, but the most important things I learned had to do with working with people under pressure, making compromises, trying to get people to do their jobs, and keeping the staff together. And the school. I saw the school from many different angles and in many situations.

A special word of thanks should go to the Homecoming court, who only had to pose three times for their pictures, and to others, like the Hooverettes, who had to pose more than once. I am deeply grateful to everyone who gave their time and efforts to the yearbook.
